Don't Jerk The Trolley—

There are many voices today.

An angry man said to me. "The do-gooders and the bureaucrats in Washington are giving away all our money to the no account whites and niggers who are too lazy to work. I don't mind taxes," he said "but they are giving away my money."

The head of a great investment house talked about "the situation" and he said, "We ought to quit lending money. We ought to go to England and say, 'Here is an order for a billion dollars worth of steel.' Then we should go to Belgium and say, 'Sell us $200,000,000 worth of cement.' And we ought to ask the Germans to sell us a half billion dollars of fabricated steel. Then we ought to take the stuff and keep it off our own markets but use it to build all the necessary four-lane highways across the nation and to construct the bridges that need to be built across rivers and bayous, bays and inlets. We ought to put this country ahead 25 years instead of waiting. The countries we buy from would be able to put people to work, to buy from raw material sources, to put sub contractors in business, to pay better wages, and to boom their entire economy. That's the way to do it."

And another man, a rugged individualist, with a fervor in his voice, stood before bankers and business men, and said, "We've got to take some of our profits and see to it that the towns have hospitals and decent schools. We've got to see to it our system means what it says. Don't worry about the public debt. It is less than $300 billion, but the income is more than $300 billion. The reason for that is we have so far been able to create more jobs and to sell their production."

Hoover

Herbert Hoover, looking at the prosperity of his first year in office, spoke out of a great vision and said he saw this country leading the way to "the abolition of poverty." All over the nation men, big and little, nodded their heads in agreement. Herbert Hoover was not a radical; not a do-gooder, not a one-worlder, not one wishing even the Hottentot kids to have milk.

He said more. He said it was right and proper for the people of this country to have more of "comfort and convenience."

He spoke in a time of boom; the period of "wonderful nonsense." It didn't sound wrong then.

There was a King of England who saw the beauty and engineering marvels of the Queen Mary when that noble vessel, then the largest ever launched, wondered out loud why the many skills and geniuses which went into the making of that huge, useful luxury ship could not do something about the miners who had then been workless and on a dole for 14 years.

History

When the great depression came, stemming out of a Europe left to stew in its own bitter juices from the war—unable to sell because of tariffs and trade barriers, unable to buy except with loans from America and American banks—when that came we all became scared, the great and small, the meek and the bold. Franklin D. Roosevelt didn't create the times. He was just around when the ferris wheel of history stopped by his place. Out of him and his thinking came the legislation—REA, TVA, SEC, HOLC, FHA, Tenant Purchase, Soil Conservation, guaranteed bank deposits, and other bureaus and laws—all unquestioned today.

Clarence B. Rabdall, President of Inland Steel, writes an article for the current Atlantic Monthly. "If you want to give us a long shove down the road toward socialism, ignore the social problems of your community . . . the free enterprise system can't neglect its social responsibility." A lot of us are groping for the right answers—earnestly wishing to know them.

We must not ever forget that we have more than 60,000,000 men and women in jobs—that our very future depends on an expanding economy. If we do not have a people not merely wanting but able to buy the products of our furniture mills, our plants that turn out refrigerators, stoves, TV sets, washing machines—and all the myriad gadgets we make and like and use—if we stop that and try to "go back" to something of the past, we will go smash.

There is going to be change. And our job is to apply intelligence to change so that it doesn't go off the trolley—keeping an eye on all these, left and right, trying to jerk it off.

Big A-Plant Expansion Held Feasible

150 Pct. Step-up In Reach—Dean

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(INS)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Gordon Dean declared Monday that the nation's A-bomb program can be expanded at least 150 percent as a starter toward virtually limitless production.

This was revealed by Sen. McMahon (Dem., Conn.), chairman of the joint congressional AEC, after a secret conference with Dean and other experts.

McMahon told newsmen he had received assurance from the men who guide America's atomic destinies that his call for tremendous expansion in the production of A-weapons is perfectly feasible.

The Senator, who is urging creation of an atomic Army, Navy and Air Force under a plan which he says eventually will save the taxpayers 30 to 40 billion dollars a year, quoted Dean as saying:

"Expansion to at least two and one-half times the present production rate is entirely practical if Congress provides the money and priorities."

McMahon added:

"Furthermore, a 150 per cent expansion is not the ceiling."

McMahon has asked the senate to consider an immediate five billion dollar boost in the atomic weapons program, bringing cost to at least six billion dollars a year.

The senator told his colleagues that "there is virtually no limit upon the number of A-bombs the United States can make," and insisted that such weapons are the best and cheapest means of preventing world war and drastically slashing conventional armament costs.

The congressional atomic energy chief said he has arranged for testimony in the near future from the secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force on his resolution calling for creation of true atomic-age armed forces.

State School Board Asked For Refunds

By M. L. ST. JOHN

State Board of Education members drew illegal pay and traveling expenses for meetings held outside Atlanta during 1950 and 1951, State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., charged Monday. State law requires the Board to meet at the State Capitol, he pointed out.

The auditor said Board members should refund $1,564.56 paid to them for meetings held in Macon, Americus, Cave Springs, Clarkesville and Covington.

He called upon State School Supt. M. D. Collins, top administrative official under bond, to obtain the refunds. While Collins made the payments on vouchers from Board members, the superintendent, himself, is liable for disbursement of Department of Education funds, Thrasher declared.

Collins immeditely requested Board members to reimburse the State Department of Education the amounts specified by the auditor.

Benton Allowed to State McCarthy Expulsion Case

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—A Senate subcommittee unanimously voted Monday to give Sen. Benton (Dem., Conn.) an opportunity to try to make his case for the expulsion from the Senate of Sen. McCarthy (Rep., Wisc).

It rejected, also unanimously, Sen. McCarthy's demand that he be allowed to confront Sen. Benton by cross-examination.

Benton was invited to appear in closed session at 9:30 a. m. Friday, to make his statement in support of his resolution calling for an investigation to determine whether expulsion action should be initiated.

All this was decided upon by the subcommittee, which is headed by Sen. Gillette (Dem., Iowa).

Sen. McCarthy told reporters when asked whether he would appear:

"Hell, no; I have said I am not going to waste my time on that mental midget (Sen. Benton)."

The subcommittee's decision in the McCarthy case was reached in anxious closed meetings that went on nearly all day.

Raised during these discussions—it was understood by Gillette himself—was the fact that Sen. McCarthy had called upon three of the five members to disqualify themselves from sitting in judgment upon himself.

One of these, Sen. Smith (Rep., Maine), sent a letter leaving it up to the full Senate rules committee.

A second, Sen. Hendrickson (Rep., N. J.), told reporters that he had no present intention of disqualifying himself.

The third subcommittee member questioned, Sen. Hennings (Dem., Mo.), told reporters that he had "not the slightest intention" to disqualify himself.

Sen. McCarthy last week had called on Hennings to excuse himself because a law partner in the Hennings firm in St. Louis, John Raeburn Green, had taken an appeal to the Supreme Court for one of the 11 convicted Communist conspirators, John Gates.

Sen. Smith and Sen. Hendrickson, for their part, were among the signers of a "declaration of conscience" against McCarthy's methods which she (Sen. Smith) had read to the Senate last year.

The subcommittee's action on the Benton resolution was preliminary in nature. It did not promise that the full investigation Sen. Benton is seeking would in fact be had.

GeorgeSpurs Co-operative Tax Passage

By CLAYTON KNOWLES

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Consttution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—The Senate voted overwhelmingly Monday night to tax co-operatives on earnings that are not distributed or allocated to patron members.

The action, taken on a voice vote, came after the Senate had approved by a vote of 60 to 19 taxation of the earnings of mutual savings banks, building and loan associations and co-operative banks, less an allowance of at least 10 percent of deposits and accounts for reserves to meet bad debts.

The yield from these sources, taxed at corporate rates, will come to an estimated $150,000,000.

Sens. Ives and Lehman (New York) Republican and Democrat, respectively, fought unavailingly to prevent taxing of mutual savings banks. Strongly supported by New England senators, they argued that the Senate finance committee proposal, as modified by the amendment, would have the effect of limiting such bank reserves to 10 percent.

They pointed out that the average of reserves in New York, where 9,000,000 depositors are the owners of these banks, is now above 11 per cent and the state seeks to increase even this.

Sen. George (Georgia), finance chairman, flared into anger when Lehman, one of 15 members of the Senate committed to raising new taxes by $4,500,000,000 additional, attacked the bank tax.

He said New Yorkers were for taxes "if they do not come out of the swollen profits of great New York institutions."

"It is time somebody said," he shouted, "that New York and one or two other states should not be permitted to make the tax policies of the United States.

"What more special interests do these special privilege groups demand? What more will these special interest groups do to hold on to those privileges?"

He declared he was getting no support for this just tax from those who are "ardently supporting proposals to close other tax loopholes."

This prompted Lehman to retort that he differentiated between mutual savings banks "owned by small people of modest means" and the great banking corporations to which George must be referring.

$25,000 Lithofold Official Once a Federal Employee

By C. P. TRUSSELL

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Charles B. Moling, a former Civilian Air Force employee, admitted to the Senate permanent investigating subcommittee Monday that while on the federal payroll he borrowed $12,100 from officials of two printing companies that got government contracts.

In addition, Moling testified, he accepted numerous gifts from one, including a television set, a motion picture camera and projector, World Series baseball tickets liquor, a ham and a turkey.

Before stepping last March from his $6,400-a-year government post into a $25,000-a-year sales managership with the American Lithofold Corp., of St. Louis, one of the companies, he said, he was given a trip to Florida and Cuba.

Moling insisted that he had done nothing in his government work to influence the awarding of contracts to the Lithofold Corp., or to the Laurel Printing Co., Inc., of New York, the other company involved by his testimony.

Anothe former federal employe, James B. E. Olson, who was supervisor of the Bureau of Internal Revenue's alcohol tax unit at New York, conceded under questioning that he had "contacted" a brewery and a wholesale liquor house under his jurisdiction in June or July of 1949 on behalf of American Lithofold. He asserted that all he had done was to request the companies—Jacob Ruppert and Austin Nichols—to see Lithofold salesmen.

From Feb. 1, 1949, to June 21, last, Olsor was on the pay roll of American Lithofold at a drawing account salary of $750 a month. He told the subcommittee that his commissions ran to around $5,800 in 1949 and 1950. He resigned from the Government, with which he had been since January of 1947, on August 24, last, after the inquiry started.

The American Lithofold Corporation is under investigation as a result of published charges that William M. Boyle Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, influenced the approval of three Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans totaling $645,000 to that company in 1949.

Giants Cut Lead Of Dodgers as Stanky Singles

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(INS)—The New York Giants, scoring the winning run with two out in the ninth, beat Boston, 4 to 3, Monday and roared to within two and a half games of league-leading Brooklyn.

Winning their 33d game in their last 40 starts as Eddie Stanky singled over third base with two out and pinch-runner Dave Williams on second, the Giants cut the Dodgers' National League lead to its slimmest point since New York started its drive in mid-August with Brooklyn 13½ games ahead.

Defense Role First 'Must' For Germany

By DREW MIDDLETON

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

BONN, Sept. 24—Abrogation of the occupation statute and abolition of the Allied High Commission will come only after Federal Germany has agreed to a contribution to European defense within a European defense community.

Monday Federal Chancellor Konrad Adenauer learned this and a good deal more from the three Allied High Commissioners in a day long meeting in which the first step on the long, continuous road to final German sovereignty was taken.

By making the end of the occupation statute and the Allied High Commission conditional on the coming into force of an agreement establshing a European defense community, the three Western Powers dashed German hopes that the Federal Republic would be able to extract maximum concessions on sovereignty as a reward for rearmament.

From the wording of Monday night's Allied communique, it is clear that a decisive change in the relationship between the occupation powers and the Federal government will not take place until a German defense partnership is established.

The positive results of Monday's

King Rallies But Crisis Is Day Away

Lung Tissue Study To Settle Malady

By BENJAMIN WELLES

New York Times News Service. Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, Tuesday, Sept. 25—King George VI gained strength Monday and was reported resting comfortably 36 hours after his serious lung operation. There was an improvement in the royal patient's general condition.

At 7 o'clock Monday night a bulletin signed by five of his doctors stated "the king has gained strength during the day."

Earlier a bulletin, hand printed in pencil and hung on the iron railings of Buckingham Palace for waiting crowds to see, had reported:

"The king had a restful night. His majesty's condition this morning continues to be as satisfactory as can be expected."

LITTLE STIR

There was scarcely more than normal activity in the vast forecourt of Buckingham Palace throughout the day. Crowds congregated on adjacent sidewalks saw an occasional large black limousine enter to deposit an official visitor. Policemen maintained their usual attitude of patient vigilance, and red-jacketed sentries marched briskly back and forth. Through the long hours crowds waited quietly, seemingly oblivious to the autumn winds that blew across St. James Park.

Inside the palace bagful after bagful of cables, telegrams and letters from all over the world continued to mount up, all inquiring after the king's health and wishing him well and a quick recovery.

"We've had telephone calls from every part of the country—from people we've never heard of," said one official. "Many have simply called to ask how the king is. Many have offered their blood—and even their lungs—to help him."

DOCTORS SATISFIED

Britain's top specialists who are attending the king were said authoritatively to be fully satisfied with the condition of their royal patient so far. However, it was stressed that the danger period following lung operations of this type lasts for three days. If by Wednesday afternoon the

Torrential Rain Hits Montgomery

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 24 (AP)—A torrential downpour flooded Montgomery with 3.80 inches of rain Monday night, 1.60 inches of it in 20 minutes.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour accompanied the rain. Several areas were without lights for a short time when lightning struck two power transformers.

The water was waist deep in many strets. All firemen and policemen off duty were called into service to help rescue hundreds of stranded motorists.

Several downtown basements were flooded. Some stores reported water covering ground floors.

Reds Angrily Walk Out of Truce Parley

Efforts to Set Talks End in Break-Up

TOKYO, Tuesday, Sept. 25—(AP)—Communist liaison officers today angrily walked out of a meeting with the Allies in Kaesong after flating rejecting a suggestion to discuss conditions for reopening the Korean truce talks.

The walkout, ending a 50-minute session, was announced here by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters.

Ridgway's office said the chief Red liaison officers "recessed the meeting and stalked angrily from the room without any provisions for the resumption of liaison officer sessions."

The Reds had gone to the meeting under limited instructions to discuss only a date and time for resumption of the truce talks, broken off by the Communists Aug. 23.

A headquarters release said:

"The senior Communist liaison officer, Col. Chang Chun-san (Chinese Red) brought an abrupt halt to the liaison officers' meetings at Kaesong today by stalking angrily out of the conference room after refusing to countenance United Nations' command's senior liaison officer, Col. Andrew J. Kinney's suggestion that the liaison officers of both sides be delegated authority to discuss conditions concerning the armistice conference that would be conducive to progress toward a Korean cease-fire.

The Communist walkout came after Colonel Kinney, acting within the authority delegated to him as senior United Nations command liaison officer by the commander in chief, United Nations command, proposed that Colonel Chang obtain broader authority to discuss conditions concerning the armistice conference that would end, once and for all, the interruptions to military armistice talks."

Colonel Kinney had told Colonel Chang that the authority given the liaison officers "reflected the true intent of the commanders with regard to resumption of the armistice talks."

Kinney also pointed out that "the lack of authority on the part of the Communist liaison officers only served further to delay resumption of the meetings."

Today's session began at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. EST Monday) and was broken off by the walkout at 10:50.

The United Nations liaison officers went to Kaesong Tuesday morning as substitutes for the top-level Alied delegation, which the Communists in their emergency message Monday evening had suggested should show up there at the same hour.

The Communist message in effect repeated—though in somewhat mild terms and omitting the customary abusive phrases—the previous proposal that the full delegations get together at the same place as before and under the same conditions to make arrangements for continued conferences. The Communist liaison officers, it said, had authority to discuss that proposal—and that proposal only—with Ridgway's representatives. Negotiations over conditions of a meeting were ruled out.

Red Losses At 58,000 For 5 Weeks

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Tuesday, Sept. 25—(AP)—American infantrymen crawled up the steep and smoking slopes of "Heartbreak Ridge" Monday as the Eighth Army commander disclosed that Communist casualties in five weeks of bitter fighting on the whole Korean front totaled 58,000 men.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, UN ground commander, said 80 percent of the Communists killed or wounded since Aug. 18 fell in the bloody "battle of the hills" in Eastern Korea.

Another 2,800 Reds were taken prisoner, Van Fleet said, and enough Communist materiel was captured to equip nearly a full Red division.

Chief action Monday was on the Eastern front.

First Storms Of Autumn Hit Georgia

Autumn's first thunderstorm rolled into Atlanta from Alabama Monday night and the Weather Bureau said there will be more of the same here and throughout the state Tuesday and Wednesday.

Forecaster said the rain, accompanied by wind and lightning, was moving slowly eastward but might visit any portions of the State either day. Otherwise, he said, it will be partly cloudy and continued mild.

In Atlanta a high reading of 84 is expected Tuesday after a morning low of 65. Wednesday another 84 is due after a drop to 66. Extremes here Monday were 64 and 85 which was four degrees above normal for the date.

The storm knocked out the Georgia Power Company hydro-electric plant at Morgan Falls briefly, dousing lights for approximately 15 minutes from Roswell and Powers Ferry Roads to Alpharetta.

American troops fought furiously after an overpowering Communist attack pushed them off the highest peak of "Heartbreak Ridge" for the second time in ten days. But at nightfall no new gains had been made.

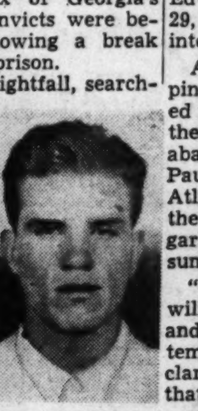
6 Desperado Convicts Believed Ringed In Gwinnett Area After Buford Break

By KEELER McCARTNEY and BILL ALLEN

Despite heavy rains, state troopers and county officers Monday night maintained a tight cordon about an area in north Gwinnett County where six of Georgia's most desperate convicts were believed hiding following a break from the Buford prison.

Shortly before nightfall, searchers reported seeing five figures dashing madly up a hillside toward thick underbrush. The sixth prisoner was believed wounded by shotgun fire during the daring dash for freedom in a commandeered prison truck.

Roy Mauldin



Joe Lee Bishop

In Atlanta, however, State Board of Corrections officials speculated that the prisoners may already have slipped through the police net. They pointed out the six—Joe Mauldin, 24; his brother, Roy Mauldin, 26; Ed Parker, 27; Curtis Lee Taylor, 21; Spencer Edwards, 25, and Joe Lee Bishop, 29, were familiar with the section into which they fled.

A suit of army clothing and a pinstripe brown suit were reported missing from a farm home near the point where the prisoners abandoned the prison truck. Capt. Paul Smith, of the State Patrol's Atlanta office, said undoubtedly the six had discarded the prison garb. However, he said they presumably still were unarmed.

"We are convinced that they will take advantage of the rain and darkness and make an attempt to break out," Smith declared. "We are prepared for just that."

Volunteer possemen and officers from a half dozen surrounding counties were called off when the rain began. Smith said patrol cars blocked every road leading out of the area, and patrol units would maintain a constant watch along two paved roads between which the group are believed hiding.

Atlanta and DeKalb County police, particularly, were alerted for the escapes.

Detective Supt. Glyn Cowan, in Atlanta, recalled day watch robbery squad detectives to reinforce the night crew. DeKalb Police Chief Hoyt Sutton, declaring he was "tired of the county being terrorized at regular intervals by these hoodlums' redoubled the night patrol watch.

Blonde Norma Bishop, the wife of Joe Lee Bishop, issued an impassioned plea to her husband to give up. In a voice choked with sobs, Mrs. Bishop told a Constitution reporter:

Ike's Cabled Plea: Reconsider Aid Cuts

Economic Funds Abroad Vital As Arms, Solons Told

By FELIX BELAIR, JR.
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—General of the Army Eisenhower has made a last-minute appeal directly to congressional negotiators on foreign aid legislation to reconsider the drastic cuts in so-called economic assistance funds voted by the Senate and House of Representatives.

Without mentioning any specific figures, the supreme Allied commander in Europe stressed the importance of economic aid to the realization of rearmament objectives. He said such funds were just as important as military aid in the European defense picture and that from the point of view of making Western Europe self-sustaining in armaments, they were even more important.

CABLE IS READ

A cable from Gen. Eisenhower making these points was read to the conference committee negotiating differences between the Senate and House versions of the legislation by Rep. James P. Richards (Dem., S. C.) and chairman of the House foreign affairs committee.

The administration originally requested $1,675,000,000 for economic aid in support of the European rearmament program. The House cut the estimate to $985,000,000 and the Senate cut even deeper to place the amount at $800,500,000. Relatively milder cuts were voted by both legislative branches in military aid in the form of weapons to be shipped abroad.

Without mentioning the Eisenhower cable, Chairman Connally of the Senate foreign relations committee, announced after a meeting of the conferees Monday that tentative agreement had been reached on administrative provisions of the legislation providing for joint control by the separate agencies concerned and with the co-ordinating functions in the White House.

SINGLE AGENCY DOOMED

The conference committee thus doomed the "single agency" concept of the House bill which would have provided a unified administration of all foreign aid programs. Under the tentative agreement reached Monday, there would be a successor organization to the economic co-operation administration which would be terminated forthwith.

Paul G. Hoffman, head of the Ford Foundation and former ECA chief, had appealed for "renewed consideration" of the single agency idea. He told the conferees he was "convinced that unless there is unified control of dollars going abroad there will be both waste and dangerous delay in building defenses."

As matters stood in the conference committee Monday, the military provisions would be administered by the Pentagon, point IV technical assistance programs by the State Department and so-called economic support of defense by the successor organization to ECA.

HOW MUCH WEIGHT?

Several committeemen were under the impression that the conference had retained language of the Senate bill which would bar any official of the agencies concerned from functioning as the co-ordinating officer to be designated by the President. It has been generally assumed that this choice would go to W. Averell Harriman, presidential assistant on foreign policy matters.

Although members said Gen. Eisenhower's cable would bear great weight with the conference committee, they declined to say what, if anything, had been done about restoring part of the economic assistance cuts. Previously, the group restored an administration-sponsored provision permitting transfer of up to 10 percent of military aid funds for economic aid purposes and vice versa.

If this provision is retained in the final conference report, it would mean that military aid funds totaling about $250,000,000 would be available for the economic-support program.

Treaty Faces Opposition In Japan

By LINDESAY PARROTT
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

TOKYO, Sept. 24—Difficulties have begun to arise over ratification of the security agreement between Japan and the United States which followed signature of the peace treaty at San Francisco, and some political circles now express the opinion that the agreement, which gives American armed forces the right to keep a garrison here even after the nation becomes officially sovereign and independent will not be approved by next month's session of the Diet.

Little doubt exists, however, that the defense arrangement eventually will be approved, particularly since many members believe that ratification of the treaty itself by the United States Congress will be at least partially contingent on Japanese permission for retention of troops and bases here. In the last analysis also the conservative government possesses a sufficient majority to push the bill through the controlling lower house on a party basis.

OPPOSITION GROWS

But the expressed opinions of leaders of minority groups now seem to indicate there is considerably harder sledding ahead for the defense agreement than was expected by Premier Shigeru Yoshida at San Francisco. The Democrats and Socialists particularly, it is intimated, want to know specifically what facilities and what powers will be granted the American defense forces, what the costs will be and whether or not there is a time limit or a limitation on the numbers of a foreign garrisoning of an independent Japan before they would be willing to endorse a blanket agreement.

The question of ratification of a security pact has come up in connection with the government's proposal to hold a special session of the Diet next month, specifically to endorse the peace treaty but also to act on internal laws and external arrangements that Japan presumably will have to possess when it again becomes a sovereign state.

SESSIONS OPEN OCT. 10

The sessions are tentatively expected to open Oct. 10. Some government plans are already encountering considerable opposition, and it is considered probable that much of the program will have to go over until the next regular session, scheduled between Dec. 5 and the Christmas holidays.

The principal point raised by opposition leaders in regard to the security pact is that though many detailed negotiations will be required to determine just what Japan will grant or withhold, no details have been made public by the Yoshida government concerning what it has in mind. It is the governmental attitude that the agreement should first be ratified by the Diet and the conditions fixed later by bilateral agreement between the Japanese and United States administrations. This is not too popular with non-governmental parties.

British Laborites Fail To Make Up At Session

LONDON, Sept. 24—(AP)—The leaders of Britain's feuding Labor Party factions met Monday but did not complete the formality of burying the political hatchet.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee and Aneurin Bevan, who stomped off the reservation last April, faced each other at a two-hour secret session of labor's high command in an effort to map a common platform to beat Winston Churchill's conservatives at the polls Oct. 25.

Morgan Phillips, the party's general secretary, was assigned to draft the platform along lines unanimously approved at the meeting, but Bevin and his followers withheld a promise to support it until they see its finished form.

Phillips told reporters there was "no difficulty, or row or fight" at the meeting.

Bevan, former health and labor minister, quit the cabinet last April and led his leftwing followers into revolt because they objected to the haste and cost of Britain's rearmament drive.

Over the weekend, however, Bevan indicated he did not intend to carry his rebellion to the point of splitting the party in the face of the conservative election threat.

In a newspaper article he declared it was the duty of all labor party members "to work for the defeat of the Tories with all the power we possess."

Attlee, too, in speeches over the weekend refrained from hitting at the party rebels. He centered his fire on the conservatives.

There seemed little chance that labor's high command would include Bevan's main demands in its platform: a reduction in arms expenditures; a working agreement with Russia; a middle-of-the-road role in what he calls the great power struggle between Communist Russia and capitalist America; and a world mutual aid plan to develop backward areas of Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24—Carl Foreman, film writer and producer who had been cited to the House Committee on Un-American Activities as the one possible Communist on the executive board of the Screen Writers Guild, Monday denied at a committee hearing that he was a Communist.

He declined, however, on grounds of possible self-incrimination, to discuss his political affiliations before Sept. 11, 1950, when in connection with his board post he took an oath disavowing Communist connections.

Although he professed complete loyalty to the United States, and cited official commendations of his work in the Army Pictorial Service and praise from anti-Communist Guild leaders, his reticence about his past activities clearly irked committee members.

'SHOCKED BY CHANGES'

They were considerably more vexed, however, by Reuben Ship, a 36-year-old radio writer who said that, although he had come to Hollywood from Canada in 1943, he had suspended his application for U. S. citizenship because of "shocking changes taking place in this country since the death of that great liberal President Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Ship, who said that up to last June he had been employed for eight years writing "The Life of Riley," a radio show, was bidden by Reps. Clyde Doyle and Donald Jackson (Dem. and Rep. of Calif.) to go back where he came from if he didn't like this country.

WITNESS REBUKED

When the witness, who declined to answer questions about his political affiliations, quoted Thomas Jefferson regarding freedom of thought, Rep. Francis Walter (Dem., Pa.) demanded:

"Who do you think you're kidding? If there was any doubt when you took the stand about why you hadn't taken our your second citizenship papers, it's been eliminated now."

Rep. Walter took over chairmanship of the hearings as they entered their second week, following the departure of Rep. John Wood (Dem., Ga.) committee chairman. The fourth member of the committee sitting on the inquiry into Hollywood communism opened in Washington last Spring is Rep. Charles Poger (Rep., Mich.).

Theater Group Elects Georgian

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(U.P.)—Mitchell Wolfson, head of a chain of theaters in Florida, was elected President of the Theaters Owners of America Monday at their convention and trade show at the Hotel Astor.

Wolfson, who also operates a television station, said in an acceptance speech that he is a firm advocate of theater television reception. He replaces Samuel Pinaski, of Boston.

Charles P. Skouras, president of the National Theater of Los Angeles, was elected chairman of the board.

Other officers named were:

John Rowley, Dallas, Texas, and Walter Reade, New York., vice presidents; Max Connett, Newton, Miss., secretary; J. J. O'Leary, Scranton, Pa., re-elected treasurer; Nat Williams, Thomasville, Ga., and Leonard Goldenson, New York, finance committee; Gael Sullivan, New York, re-elected executive director; Herman M. Levy, New Haven, Conn., general counsel.

CITES VIOLENCE

CONNERSVILLE, Ind.—(U.P.)—Divorce-seeking Francis M. Davis offered three reasons for his court suit. He said his wife Lettie threw china dishes at him, broke up furniture, and burned all his clothing.

AFL Marks 19 Senators For Defeat

All Are Labeled Enemies, of Labor

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor Monday named 19 Senators to be marked for defeat next year if more friendly candidates oppose them.

To finance the AFL's 1952 political activities, the 70th convention has boosted the per capita tax on its 8,000,000 members a penny a month. That will yield nearly $1,000,000.

On top of that, the Federation's political league will try to pick up another million dollars in voluntary contributions of $1 each from members. The league collected $600,000 in last year's campaign from a $2 drive.

The particular target candidates, described as "anti-labor incumbent senators," were named by Joseph D. Keenan, who is stepping out as director of the political league. James L. Devitt, head of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor, will run the 1952 political activities."

Keenan said "a net gain of nine seats is all we need for a friendly Senate majority."

He classed the following as "enemies of labor up for election" in 1952:

"In the Northeast, there are Brewster of Maine, and Flanders of Vermont. Down in Pennsylvania there is Martin. In New Jersey, Sen. Smith, and in Delaware, the notorious Sen. Williams. There's Dixiecrat O'Conor of Maryland up for re-election, as well as the dean of all Dixiecrats, Harry Byrd of Virginia. Tom Connally of Texas, Sen. Stennis of Mississippi and Sen. Holland of Florida are the only other Dixiecrats up this year.

"In the Midwest there is Bricker of Ohio, Butler of Nebraska, and Sen. Jenner of Indiana. Kem of Missouri and Jumping-Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, as well as Sen. Thye of Minnesota, all should be retired in 1952.

"Out in the West there's Cain of Washington, Ecton of Montana, Watkins of Utah, and Knowland of California, all of whom can be defeated in 1952."

As for the presidential contests, Keenan proposed a hand-off policy for the political league in the selection of nominees.

"In June, 1952, there will be two conventions which will write platforms and select candidates, and then, and only then, should we consider any candidacy for the presidency and I don't think it should be up to labor's league for political education."

Albany Man Held On Check Charges

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24—(AP)—An Albany man was bound over Monday to the Muscogee grand jury on charges that he forged the name of a Columbus minister to four checks and cashed a fifth worthless check.

Jerry D. Barlow, 36, admitted the forgeries. The checks had been endorsed with the name of the Rev. Colin R. Campbell, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church here. Barlow's bonds total $2,500.

Benevolent or Not, It's Despotism

Milk in Georgia seems to ebb and flow like the tide. One day by reports from what should be informed sources we have an ample supply. The next day there is a shortage.

By the latest report from State Milk Control Director Charlie Duncan, the Atlanta and Columbus areas are being adequately supplied by shipments from Indiana, Tennessee and North Carolina, but South Georgia is still 15 to 20 per cent short of the amount of the milk needed.

In considering these varying degrees of stringency, we cannot forget that this situation always exists in Georgia—there is one man who by arbitrary ruling can create a milk shortage overnight. Extreme power, held by one person, often leads to extreme decisions.

Whereas United States Department of Health standards on milk are good enough for thousands of communities in this land, they are not good enough for Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, Tom Linder.

Not long ago, Mr. Linder created an acute shortage in Rabun County by shutting off the flow from a Franklin, N. C., dairy which had been supplying the section around Clayton for years. The Franklin milk met federal requirements, but not Mr. Linder's.

To meet the Linder standards, distributors often must pass up suppliers close to home, even though the milk from those producers can pass federal muster. Instead they must import milk from several hundred miles away. And they can do that only when one of Mr. Linder's inspectors, who is very likely to know more about political bull than he does about a dairy cow, is sent to that distant source. The distributor, by the way, pays that inspector, but the consumer gets the bill in the long run.

We believe in protecting the Georgia dairy industry, but not to the extent that Georgians are forced to go without milk when the supply falls short. If we suspected that public health was in jeopardy, we would be among the first to insist on protective measures.

But we feel at the same time that the milk business, the consumer, perhaps even the department of agriculture, would benefit if Mr. Linder did not insist on knowing more about health standards than the United States Department of Health. Nowhere have people been damaged by the U. S. standards.

Free World Prays 'God Save the King'

Millions of free people the world over join with the gallant British in fervent prayers that King George VI will be spared for many more years of usefulness to his people and the world. Throughout their long history, the British have had no monarch whose qualities better exemplified the national character at its best.

The British throne in the minds of Britons is the symbol which holds them together. It is the unity of purpose, the determination to achieve, the willingness to bear suffering. It is the symbol of qualities which makes a Briton refer to "His Majesty's Navy," when he really means "my navy." Respect for the king means respect for the combined achievements and qualities of all and for traditions which have served well.

George VI, who was called to the throne in a time of grave crisis, even of threats to the constitutional monarchy itself, has been more than a mere figurehead. He has been a working king. He and his family have shared the austerity and the dangers of their subjects.

Throughout the dreary days of constant attack and death in London during World War II, the king and his queen remained at the palace, constantly exposed to danger and constantly encouraging and comforting the hard-pressed people. On at least one occasion the couple narrowly escaped death.

In his book, "Their Finest Hour," Winston Churchill points to the great assistance rendered by the royal family to the war effort and to the valuable advice and guidance from the king. "During the four and a half years that this continued," Churchill writes, "I became aware of the extraordinary diligence with which the king read all the telegrams and public documents submitted to him. . . . At our weekly meetings he frequently showed that he had mastered papers which I had not yet dealt with."

Bearing out this observation, it was interesting to note that during the day preceding his operation, the king continued to handle paper work involved in his responsibility.

The world can ill afford to lose King George—a statesman who represents the best in Western civilization. We pay him tribute and join in prayers for his speedy recovery.

For the Welfare of the Nation

Henry Wallace has rendered a valuable service in coming forth to throw light on our Asiatic policy during the Roosevelt administration. In a letter to President Truman, the former vice-president denies allegations by Republican snipers in Congress that Owen Lattimore and John Carter Vincent were tools of the Communists relied upon by party leaders to guide Wallace along the Communist line.

He pointed out that Lattimore had no part whatever in the preparation of the Wallace China report of 1944 and he said, too, that Vincent joined with him (Wallace) in recommending the anti-Communist Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer as a replacement for Gen. Joe Stilwell.

Mr. Wallace sent with the letter other documents bearing on the current investigation of Far Eastern policy. In so doing, he told the President to use the evidence in a way that would "best minister to the welfare of the country."

The former vice-president is to be commended for his action in releasing through President Truman this added information about the China affair. The documents speak for themselves and had the recommendation been followed, the story might have been far different in China.

Wallace himself continues to be a great enigma. He is one of the tragic figures of recent American history.

Bitter toward those whose decision in Chicago in 1944 robbed him of the Presidency, he led the formation of a third party which became the tool of the Communists. But as he became aware of what was happening, he refused to go along with this party in attacks upon the government which he had served.

This latest gesture in writing to President Truman with the welfare of the nation at heart is another indication that as misguided and misled as Henry Wallace may have been, he is too honest and sincere to let the past stand between him and patriotism.

Likes McGill

The Editors: We think Mr. McGill's editorials are splendid. We always read them. We liked particularly his column about national parks. We have never been to the Everglades nor to Yellowstone, but they can't possibly be more beautiful than our Blue Ridge and the Great Smokies. We enjoy nothing more than a dawn to dusk — and sometimes midnight — trip to the mountains, but the trouble is we don't know when to start home—we just go on and on, as do the following verses:

There's a winding road to Barrow,
To the hills that we call home;
We've climbed the Grand Old Smokies
From Cherokee to Clingman's Dome,
We've scaled the Cliffs of Whiteside
With the world spread out below
And skirted emerald valleys
In sunset's afterglow;
We've wound our way through Unicoi
And downward to the plain
And up again toward Rabun
Through a veil of summer rain;
Now—
We've turned our headlights southward
Past Tallulah's rugged rim,
With a crescent moon above us
And the highway stretching thin,
With the dark, cool night about us
And contentment in our soul
We travel down the shadowed slopes
Onward toward our goal;
And as we near our journey's end
We wonder why we roam,
For this winding road to Barrow
Is the road that leads us home.

Chief Jenkins Praised

The Editors: When a person does anything great, worthy of praise, I feel praise should be given them publicly while they are living, and for the sake of any who may not know what kind of chief of police this city has, I would like to say he is a man deserving the highest of praise for trying to keep this city clean from indecency.

A public indecent condition had been taking place in this city for over a year and thousands in this city saw it but not one even had interest enough to endeavor to have it stopped, so I wrote the chief of police for his help. Immediately he had it stopped. Chief Jenkins is a man not asleep on his job. BEATRICE B. BARRON.

Building Self-Reliance

The Editors: The remark in Leo Aikman's column that unless one was a moron, he could find his own amusement coincided with my own ideas exactly.

It has become so universal that unless there's a TV in the living room and a tank full of gas in the garage, there's nothing to do—if the neighbors can't come to play bridge or canasta.

I have been trying for years to combat this lack of ability to rely on one's own resourcefulness by working with preschool children where, unless they initiate and carry through their own activities, they are left alone to become utterly bored.

They find life is so much happier if they are able to be busy and creative with the materials given them and aren't the "Mama, what can I do?" type.

"City officials condemn old oaken bucket." State news item.

The old oaken bucket that hung by a chain . . . is passing away and the few that remain . . . are scorned by the doctors and others like those . . . who know what is best for the health, I suppose . . . and we drink from the bubble that springs from the fount . . . that is low, so they say, on bacteria count.

Many old things are gone, well remembered by all . . . who lived in the days that we cannot recall . . . that old ice-cream freezer we used once or twice . . . in the summer, provided "the train" brought some ice . . . the vine-covered cottage, the small one nearby . . . the livery stable that smelled to the sky . . . the old swimming hole, full of half-sunken logs . . . we shared with the moccasins, turtles and frogs . . . too shallow except in the times of a flood . . . which frequently brought it less water than mud.

It's human to dwell on the scenes of our youth . . . which are not so bright, if we but tell the truth . . . so don't drop a tear on old memory's page . . . but be glad you lived through the unsterilized age.

McCarthy Throws Fat in the Fire

WASHINGTON—Sen. Joseph McCarthy, who constantly looks through Red-tinted glasses, may have over extended himself in his latest charge that "several United States representatives and senators have known Communists on their staffs."

It is a charge the Red-baiting Wisconsin senator made in a speech before a veterans group at Savannah recently. When questioned by reporters he appeared to go a step even further by declining to say whether or not he believed there are Reds in Congress, itself.

Heretofore, McCarthy has confined his charges about Communist infiltration largely to the State Department. This is the first time he has extended his smear campaign to cover his associates in Congress.

It is one thing, of course, for him to make a lot of loose charges about Communists in governmental departments, but quite another when he brings Congress under attack. So long as the charges stand every member of Congress will be under a cloud of suspicion of harboring a Communist in his office.

This is something that Congress as a whole can hardly afford to ignore. The voluble Wisconsin senator at last seems to have worked himself into a position where he will have to put up or shut up—a demand that has been made on him for some time.

Call for Action It is inconceivable that the House and Senate can allow the charges to pass without some action. If there are any Communists tucked away on Congressional payrolls, the public has a right to know about it and who the offending members are.

Already a demand has come from Senator William Benton, Democrat of Connecticut, that McCarthy be required to give a United States district attorney "any evidence he has to support his charge that several members of Congress have known Communists on their staffs." He has reminded that "it constitutes a felony to pay a Federal salary to any Government employee who is known to be a Communist."

The demands may be expected to go much further than this. McCarthy may be required to go before a Congressional committee and present his evidence, if he has any. It is to be noted that he did not qualify his statement at Savannah, but made the direct charge that several members of both houses have known Communists on their staffs.

Up to Him He should and undoubtedly will be required to prove his allegations. If he fails to come forward with supporting evidence, as he has in the frequent charges he has made against the State Department, he will find himself in an extremely reprehensible position.

Senator Benton has accused McCarthy of "character assassination" and has introduced a resolution questioning his fitness to sit as a member of the Senate. He has described the Savannah charges as "reckless accusations advanced without proof," adding:

"They convince me that he is suffering from a malady which feeds on itself—fright. He is frightened that the end is in sight for him and it is because of my resolution."

One thing would seem to be certain. McCarthy will now have to prove his latest charges or find the movement intensified to oust him from the Senate. It looks as though he has finally thrown a real piece of fat in the fire.

Watch Governors At Gatlinburg

It will be interesting to watch Governor Talmadge at the National Governors' Conference next week in Gatlinburg, Tenn. It will be interesting to see who talks national politics with him. Because the preliminaries to next summer's "big show" will be played in the hotel rooms at Gatlinburg when the governors of the 48 states talk about potential presidential candidates.

A National Governors' Conference is a place where potential presidential candidates, or their supporters, do a lot of maneuvering. We attended such a conference with Acting Governor Thompson in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1947, and found the New York governor and the California governor very much in evidence. Later, the Republicans nominated Dewey for President and Warren for Vice-President.

We believe Governor Talmadge's opinion will be sought by supporters of potential candidates. Roy Harris says that "as Georgia goes, so will go Dixie" . . . contending that President Truman is trying to take Georgia, and urging that Georgia go anti-Truman. . . . Truman has not announced his intentions yet. The Pathfinder, national magazine, features an article about the Southern revolt, and features Senator Byrd of Virginia and Governor Byrnes of South Carolina. It overlooked Senator Russell, the South's candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1948, and Governor Talmadge, who sponsored Byrd's appearance here in the kick-off dinner for the 1952 anti-Truman drive.

Power Balance We don't follow Harris on the slogan of "as Georgia goes, so will go Dixie," because we doubt that Georgia has that much influence either for or against the President. On the other hand, we think the Pathfinder erred in not including Georgia leaders in the Southern movement. Certainly Talmadge will fight aggressively against the renomination of Truman, as will Russell. We haven't seen Senator Byrd nor Russell lending any encouragement to Senator Mundt's proposal for a Democratic-Republican coalition, however, even though both Byrd and Russell have been proposed for President or Vice-President on such a ticket. Nor have we seen any indication that Byrnes, Byrd, Talmadge and Russell are interested in leading a third party movement. They are primarily interested in wielding a balance of power in the Democratic Party.

Two Southerners, former Governor Arnall and Tennessee's Senator Kefauver, may play important roles for the South on the other side of the picture.

Ike's Chances News from Gatlinburg says that the causes of Republican Senator Taft, Democratic President Truman and General Eisenhower, whose political party inclinations are not known, will be advanced at the Governors' Conference. It wouldn't be guesswork to say that Governor Talmadge would put Georgia's support to Eisenhower. The Georgia Democratic Convention before the 1948 National Democratic Convention urged a ticket of Eisenhower and Russell.

Aside from the corridor discussions of national politics, the national governors will be concerned at their business sessions with means of improving state government. Governor Talmadge will participate in a discussion on law enforcement. Incidentally, a Southerner, who is well known in Georgia, may head the National Governors next year. Tennessee's Gov. Gordon Browning, chairman of the Southern Regional Education Board, which has headquarters in Atlanta, is being pushed for the chairmanship of the national group.

Ask About Inlay-a-Way Plan

"St. Louis dentists are considering a plan that would allow patients to pay for dental care on time." So reports Business Week magazine under the heading "Finance Briefs." Does that mean that we can look forward to a new version of that familiar message of advice, like this: "See your dentist twice a year. Pay him once a month"? And will the commercial come to say?—"Don't let that cavity in your bank account drive you from extraction. Our new credit arrangement will bridge you over. Have your teeth out by installments. Let Dr. E. Z. Jerk pull them on the painless payment plan. Drilling, filling and convenient billing. A small cash deposit and the rest due as you chews. Inlay-a-ways to fit every budget."

Objective Report or Party Plot?

NEW YORK—We come now to the questions whether the "inquiry" of the President's committee on civil rights was a conscientious, impartial search for information and its "report," which conformed so generally to the Communist line, was an objective document. As I have told you, after persistent digging, this whole business reeks of political conspiracy. Notwithstanding the fact that Charles E. Wilson, formerly president of General Electric and now director of defense mobilization, a queazy euphemism for war mobilization, and two bishops, one Catholic, the other Protestant Episcopal, were members of this "committee," the whole exploit was a political trick. These dignitaries may have been dupes.

I was made suspicious when several members of the committee gave me oblique answers to straight questions. My suspicions were confirmed when Mrs. Nancy F. Wechsler, the counsel for the committee, admitted that she, like her husband, James A. Wechsler, editor of The New York Post, formerly was a member of the Communist Party.

When the committee's report came out in 1947 it was given a gala window display in the official Communist book store in New York.

It should be kept in mind that this report is the basis of the political revolt of Sen. Harry F. Byrd and the other distinguished Southern Democrats who realized that the document was another "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in ideological jargon, now being used to inflame hatred against the white population of the Southern States and exploit the Negro as a stalking-horse in another racial conflict, which might come to bloodshed.

Robert K. Carr, a professor of "government" at Dartmouth College, was "executive secretary" of the professional staff of the committee on civil rights. The job of "executive secretary" is the key position. The Communists always try to land it for one of their own. Professor Carr flatly denies that he is or ever was a member of the party. I have no evidence that he ever was.

John S. Dickey, president of Dartmouth, was a member of the committee. I cannot state who selected Carr for the key job but I do know now that Carr picked Mrs. Wechsler as counsel. The holder of this job is, of course, as influential as the executive secretary.

Wilson spilled the beans with a frank admission that Truman didn't pick the members at all but left this to David K. Niles, of Boston, the White House mystery man, a member of the quiet, unseen Felix Frankfurter machine. Carr said Truman picked them. Another informant, whom I believe to be reliable, now says Morris L. Ernst, a New York lawyer, formerly counsel for the Newspaper Guild and for Heywood Broun, its president, had a voice in the selections.

The Newspaper Guild was heavily infested with Communists from the very start and Broun, about 15 months before his death, wrote that he had recently tried to put his own son to work on the Daily Worker, the official Communist paper.

By telephone between Dartmouth and New York, I asked Professor Carr how he had selected Mrs. Wechsler. Carr said she called at his office, the office of the executive secretary, in Washington and asked for the job. He did not know her. He did not hire her at once but "made every effort to get in touch with people who knew of her work in previous government jobs." This, he said, assured him of "her competence in the field and her general intelligence." Her government jobs included one with OPA. This outfit was infested with Communists, but its term of existence began after the time given by Mrs. Wechsler as the time of her withdrawal from the party, 1937.

Carr's tribute to her "competence in the field" could have a sly meaning. But of her "general intelligence" there would be no question. She was one of the party smarties in her time.

"She came into the office a month later" and, without further hesitation, Carr hired her. I put it to him that he gave her this influential job on the basis of two brief meetings and some recommendations from her friends. He said that was it.

Carr then tipped his mitt. I mentioned the former connection of her husband, James Wechsler, of the New York Post, with the Communist Party, and Carr said, "so was Mrs. Wechsler, long ago. She belonged to it as a student at Columbia, long ago."

But, he stipulated, so had Whittaker Chambers, Louis Budenz and Elizabeth Bentley. These apostates have fought hard and sacrificed much to expose the Communists after their withdrawal. I am not informed that either of the Wechslers has made a similar effort.

Budenz said he had known Nancy Wechsler as a member of the party.

I next telephoned Mrs. Wechsler and related to her Carr's statement that she had been a Communist. She said that if I had quoted him correctly to her "his statement is quite accurate."

"I never made any bones about this business," she said. "I was in the movement and I got out around 1937."

Mrs. Wechsler gave liberal assistance to Milton D. Stewart, the "director of research," in the writing of the final report.

JOHN MARVIN RAST

"Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me."—John 14:1.

When the Master pleaded with His disciples that they let not their hearts be troubled, He proceeded to give reasons why they should: "Believe in God," and "Believe also in me."

Faith is not simply a leap in the dark. It is a leap from light to light. It is using all the reason with which God has endowed us to take the next step, confident that He who has begun in us a good work will perfect that work if we seek Him wholeheartedly.

The sphere of our action is this present life. Whatever falls out to us in it, we take courage from the assurance that God is near to sustain us, the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

AGAIN AND AGAIN we have proved Thee, O God. Through the enabling of Thy Son our Lord prepare us for the test of this day.

Festivities to Center (Arrow) at Platform 200 Feet North of 16th St.

Expressway Leg Opening Tonight To Be a Gala Event

One of Atlanta's most colorful celebrations will mark the formal opening at 8 p. m. Tuesday of the three-mile-long, $6,000,000 north leg of the expressway, the first project in the multi-million-dollar metropolitan traffic program.

Music, fireworks and oratory will spark the observance to which all Atlanta has been invited.

Ceremonies spearheaded by W. O. DuVall, chairman of the joint Atlanta-Fulton County Bond Commission, and Mayor Hartsfield will be centered about a platform erected approximately 200 feet north of 16th Street on the outer edges of the expressway.

City, county, state and federal officials will participate in the formal dedication and Jack Tarver, assistant to the president of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., will cut the ribbon officially opening the stretch to traffic.

John Quillian of Gainesville, a member of the State Highway Board, will represent Gov. Talmadge, who cannot attend the observance because of a previous engagement.

B. P. McWhorter, division engineer for the Federal Bureau of Roads, and Sam Allison, urban engineer for the State Highway Department, are slated to hold one end of the ribbon, while Hartsfield and Tom Camp, chairman of the Fulton County Commission, will hold the other. The four governments financed the undertaking jointly.

The celebration is being directed by the bond commission. Mike Benton, president of the Southeastern Fair Association, has promised the most intensive fireworks display ever seen in Atlanta when he crowds a 20-minute show into eight minutes.

Bands from Georgia Tech and O'Keefe High School are scheduled to provide music.

Traffic will be barred from the stretch from 7 to 7:30 p. m. after which the roadways will be opened so that motorists may drive cars in both directions to the scene of the dedication. Fire trucks will block traffic near the platform and will lead cars out again as soon as the observance is over.

Among other officials expected to attend are members of the bond commission, City Council, Fulton County Commission, all members of the State Highway Department, J. S. Call, district engineer for the Bureau of Roads, and officials of the MacDougald Construction Co., contractors for the project.

The new stretch is a six-lane highway accommodating three lanes of traffic traveling in opposite directions.

Locks Up His Teacher, Drives Off in Her Car

FAIRFIELD, Vt., Sept. 24—(U.P.)—A 13-year-old boy locked his teacher in a nearby country school Monday and then drove off in her automobile.

Miss Catherine Gillen freed herself and telephoned state police who seized the boy 47 minutes later. The youngster said he always wanted to drive the car but was afraid the teacher would chase him.

State CIO Leader Pledges PAC All-Out Voting Effort

By BILL DIEHL

William H. (Bill) Crawford, newly elected president of the CIO State Industrial Union Council, Monday pledged wholehearted support to David S. Burgess, new full-time head of the CIO's Political Action Committee, in registering members and getting them to polls during elections.

Crawford and Burgess were elected to their offices at the CIO State Convention in Macon Sunday. Burgess will be the first full-time political union boss.

Crawford accepted the presidency after delegates named Burgess head of the committee and adopted a far-flung new political program. The delegates also went on record as opposing the County Unit System.

Main action of the political group will be to accent the importance of voting to union members and check their registration qualifications. It will also study the background of political candidates.

The new president has been district director of the Steel Workers Union since 1942 and has been a leader in union activities since the twenties. He began his union career as an organizer with the Amalgamated AFL Workers and became a CIO director when the union was organized in 1937.

Burgess, who was born in China of missionary parents, is a graduate of Oberlin College and is an ordained and active minister in the Congregational Church. He has played a leading role in union affairs in the south for the past nine years.

Crawford announced Monday he will attend the National CIO Convention in New York next November as official delegate of the Georgia Industrial Council.

Services Institute

Charlie Mathias, head of the Atlanta Industrial Union Council, CIO, announced Monday completion of plans for a two-day Community Services Institute in Atlanta Oct. 13-14.

The Institute is designed to educate members in different phases of community charity and welfare work. It will specialize in a program to prepare CIO members to serve in different capacities on civilian defense, Red Cross and Community Chest drives and in other local community duties.

The Institute is co-sponsored by the Atlanta Industrial Union Council and the National CIO Community Services Committee.

Mayor Hartsfield will lead the program of speakers, which also includes Emil Rieve, President of the Textile Workers Union of America, Dr. H. B. Trimble, dean of the Emory University School of Religion, and Harry Boyer, President of the Pennsylvania CIO Council.

De Gasperi May Sway U. S. Vote

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Every major act in the relations between the United States and Italy has political repercussions in both countries, and the visit of the Italian Prime Minister to Washington is certainly no exception. Both De Gasperi and the Truman Administration face elections next year, De Gasperi in December, or sooner, and Mr. Truman in November, if he chooses to run. What happens in the current visit, therefore, is likely to have its effect, not only on how the Italians vote in 1952, but on how the Italian-Americans vote in such key states as New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Ohio and Illinois. Premier De Gasperi faces a difficult political situation at home. There are 2,000,000 unemployed Italians. The population of that country is increasing each year by 400,000 to 500,000. Some 200,000 Italians are reaching working-age each year, and while the De Gasperi coalition did fairly well in the recent municipal elections, the opposition Communist-Nenni Socialist vote against the government was surprisingly high.

The United States has made various contributions to the solution of this problem ever since Italy switched sides in the last great war. Since that time, U. S. grants to Italy have amounted to $2,217,188,553, and U. S. direct or guaranteed loans to Italy in this same period have totaled $413,459,075. Of this grand total of $2,630,647,628, $310,166,264 was allocated to Italy during the war and $2,320,481,364 since the end of the war.

Of these totals, Italy has repaid $115,780,176, but at the same time the De Gasperi government has received considerable military aid under the U. S.-European arms program, the figures of which cannot be published for security reasons.

These grants and loans to Italy break down as follows:

Grants (to June 30, 1951).

	WARTIME	POSTWAR	TOTAL
American Red Cross	2,991,994	191,168	3,183,112
Army Civilian Supplies	300,159,735	109,946,849	410,106,584
E. R. P.		959,164,712	959,164,712
Interim Aid		176,054,133	176,054,133
Post-UNRRA Aid		117,413,854	117,413,854
UNRRA	7,014,585	409,754,311	416,768,896
Lend Lease transfer to army for Italy		134,486,768	134,486,768
MDAP Economic Aid		10,494	10,494
Totals	$310,166,264	1,907,022,289	2,217,188,553
Loans (to June 30, 1951) all post-war:
Maritime		65,220,110
ERP		74,000,000
ERP Deficiency Materials Program		1,494,180
Export-Import Bank Loan		102,094,189
Export-Import Guaranteed Loans		27,576,382
Surplus Property		144,072,214
Total Loans		413,459,075
Total Grants		2,217,188,553
Total Foreign Aid		$2,630,647,628

In spite of this assistance, the anticipated Italian dollar deficit will run anywhere from $200,000,000 to $330,000,000 for the fiscal year ending July, 1952, and as the New York Times correspondent in Rome reported Monday morning, De Gasperi is expected by neutral observers to be "in an extremely difficult position if he should return from Washington empty-handed."

The United States was confronted with a similar dilemma before the last Italian general election. It was not entirely satisfied with the Italian government's own efforts to deal with its basic problems of land, industrial, tax and fiscal reform, but at the same time it was confronted with the prospect that the anti-Communist De Gasperi government might fall if it did not get assistance from the United States.

Consequently, by various means which the Truman Administration does not want to repeat this time, assistance was sent and the election was won, but despite what is generally regarded as the remarkable success of the European recovery program, Italy's basic problems of too many people, too few natural resources, and too much unemployment still dominate the political scene.

Washington will not listen to De Gasperi with "ill-concealed boredom" and it will not give him a "quick and decisive brush-off," as Pietro Nenni, De Gasperi's left-wing Socialist opponent, predicted this weekend.

The success of his mission is too important to American foreign policy and to the forthcoming United States election for that. New efforts, therefore, will be made to place American military contracts in Italian industries in the hope of putting some of the idle Italian factories and workers back in production.

Similarly, various United States Economic Co-operation Administration projects for Italy, which have been moving slowly through the administrative machinery here, are likely to be pushed along a little faster. Also, United States support of revision of the Italian peace treaty will be stressed. And it is even possible that the United States, which promised to try to get Trieste returned to Italy during the last Italian election, may be able to induce Tito to make a down payment on the promise this time.

The basic problems of Italy's rising population, rising labor force and rising unemployment, however, cannot be solved here, and nobody knows that better than De Gasperi.

Cook Replies To Criticism

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, at his desk Monday after a two-week absence, hit back at critics in two directions.

He declared he would not withdraw from defending State Democratic Chairman James Peters and former Secretary Iris Blitch, as Sen. Osgood Williams of Crawfordville requested.

"The Attorney General on direction from the Governor can defend or prosecute any civil or criminal case in which there is statewide public interest," Cook said. "If there was any merit in Sen. Williams' contentions that the Law Department should not be in the County Unit cases, certainly the attorneys for the plaintiffs would have made the challenge. Certainly, the lower courts would have ruled us out, instead of upholding us."

To State School Board members who denounced his department for "confused rulings," Cook quipped: "We don't write the law; we just interpret it. If they aren't satisfied, the only thing I can suggest is that they ask the General Assembly to enact laws which will suit them."

The Attorney General has two speaking engagements Thursday. He will address a luncheon of the Board of Realtors at Macon, and speak to a dinner meeting that night for the Winder Lions Club.

Gilstrap Is Acquitted

H. D. Gilstrap, employee of the Fulton County Dog Pound, was acquitted late Monday in Fulton Criminal Court on charges of child molesting. He was found "not quilty" after a brief jury deliberation.

Packard is holding the line on prices!

We can't tell, of course, what may happen in later months. But in the face of industry-wide price boosts, Packard has made today's decision: No price increases now!

And why is it possible for Packard to continue holding the line on prices?

Answer: Because Packard "got in under the wire" on its latest (and greatest) new-model changeover.

That was a wise move for Packard to make—and it points to a wise move for you to make . . .

Check today's delivered prices on auto row. You'll know then, for certain: "You're paying for a Packard . . . why not own one?"

One easy step never took you so far!

Iran Barring 300 British From Abadan Installations

Must Sign Up With New Firm Or Get Out, Declares Spokesman

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

TEHRAN, Iran, Sept. 24—(AP)—Iran Monday was reported putting the heat on 300 British oil technicians at Abadan and threatening them with starvation.

An Iranian government spokesman said all will be kicked out of the country within a week or 10 days unless they sign up as employees of the Iranian National Oil Company. The ousting has begun.

The heat treatment is being done literally. The British embassy said the technicians are being barred from homes built for them in the refinery city by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company (AIOC). It said they also are being cut off from company-built food stores and restaurants.

Abadan is ruled by Iranian martial law.

STIFLING HEAT

The living quarters are air-conditioned against the stifling heat of the Persian Gulf. In the last war American GIs of the Persian Gulf command plastered their nearby camp with signs calling it "the hottest place this side of hell." Most dockside work is done at night to escape the day heat.

An embassy spokesman said it was impossible for the British to live at Abadan if cut off from company facilities. Except for slum areas where cheap labor lives, it is a model company city with few quarters for transients.

The newest Iranian moves followed Britain's rebuff of Iran's suggestion for reopening negotiations to put AIOC facilities back into production. The plants were closed down last summer by the British after being nationalized by Iranian law.

The ultimatum to the technicians was announced by Ali Shayegan, a member of the parliamentary oil board. He said they must sign individual contracts to work for Iran or get out of the country.

NO FURTHER OVERTURES

His announcement after a three-hour board meeting with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh present said: "We will make no further overtures to the British government concerning the position of the 300 technicians in the closed-down Abadan refinery."

A report from Abadan said the residence permit of James Cunningham, AIOC communications boss, was lifted Sunday and he left for neighboring Iraq, where AIOC also operates.

Tone Asking Prosecution Of Actor Neal

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24—(U.P.). Screen Star Franchot Tone sought a felony complaint Monday against actor Tom Neal for the beating he received 11 days ago in a pre-dawn battle over the affections of screen beauty Barbara Payton.

Tone's version of the brawl was made public for the first time in a report he gave police following his conference with the district attorney.

He said he, Miss Payton and a group of friends arrived at her apartment at about 1 a. m. only to find Neal waiting there.

"I said, 'Tom, let's go outside and talk things over,'" Tone reported. "We both went out on the lawn and talked quietly for about 30 minutes. Towards the end of our discussion, Miss Payton came out, put her arms around me and said, 'Can't we do something to end this situation?'

"It was at this point that Neal first struck me. The first blow rendered me unconscious. I regained consciousness to find Neal sitting on top of me, beating me about the head and face. I could feel my head resting on some kind of stone.

"I raised my hand to protect my face but lost consciousness immediately."

Man Who Riddled Autos Sentenced

CUSSETA, Sept. 24 — (AP) — George (Josh) Dean Williams, 21-year-old Chattahoochee County Negro, Monday was sentenced to nine to 12 years in prison for a wild shooting spree here July 29.

The Negro pleaded guilty to three counts of shooting at another. He was sentenced to serve three to four years on each charge, the sentences to run consecutively.

The Negro was arrested at his home in rural Chattahoochee County and was charged with riddling several passing automobiles with bullets from a .22 caliber rifle. The shooting took place on U. S. Highway 27 four miles south of here.

Man Who Outran Atlanta Police Believed Convict

A man who may have been one of six escapees from an outside work crew at Georgia's prison for incorrigibles at Buford Monday night outstripped Atlanta detectives in a foot race down Capitol Ave.

Dets. J. E. Sikes and R. A. Boone said the man leaped from a truck and fled when they attempted to halt the machine. Sikes gave chase on foot and fired his service revolver into the air.

"I gave out after three blocks and he was still going," the detective said.

A check with the state auto license bureau showed the truck was registered in the name of A. T. Attaway, of Buford. Detectives said there was no stolen report on the vehicle and no apparent reason for the driver to take to his heels.

"GIVE UP, JOE"

Mrs. Joe Lee Bishop

"Oh, tell him that I'd rather have a live husband in the chaingang than a dead one on a slab. Please tell him to give up."

Mrs. Bishop, who gave her age as 20, said she believed her husband might try to get in touch with her. "But if he's hurt, all he has to do is let me know and I'll go to him," she added.

The Bishops have one child, Joe, Jr., 18 months old. Mrs. Bishop formerly was married to Boyce Bradford. Bishop, Bradford and John Carrigan were arrested three years ago for a $25,000 payroll holdup of the Sewell Clothing Company at Bremen.

She divorced Bradford and was married to Bishop in Fulton Tower, while he was awaiting trial on the holdup. Carrigan was executed at Tattnal State Prison for the pistol slaying of Mrs. Beatrice Samples, Atlanta widow.

USED CONVEYOR

The break at Buford came at 9 a. m. Monday. Warden W. N. McHan said the six were dumping rock into a rock-crushing machine near the prison wall. Hidden by a cloud of dust from the machine, they sprinted along a conveyor belt that carried rock through a chute in the wall.

One broke a window in a county prison truck, while a second slugged the driver, Lawson Fields, of Buford. Three crowded into the cab and three others dived into the metal body of the truck as guards armed with shotguns and rifles opened fire.

Guard Raymond (Red) Cox said he fired point blank with a shotgun at one prisoner, believed to be Roy Mauldin, as he scrambled into the truck.

"I thought he was going to fall when I shot," Cox declared. "But the others grabbed him and pulled him inside."

BLOODSTAINED BANDANA

A bloodstained bandana was found near where the six abandoned the truck a half mile west of the prison. Officers said the inside of the truck also was bloodsmeared as if at least one of the escapes was badly wounded.

P. O. Smallwood, a tenant farmer, was standing on the front porch of his home when the prison truck skidded to a stop about 200 yards away. Smallwood said six men leaped out, one of them limping badly, and sprinted towards a wooded area.

The section under search is bounded by two paved roads, approximately two miles apart. State troopers and patrol cars from Fulton, DeKalb, Cobb, Hall, Gwinnett and Jackson counties maintained a constant patrol of the roads while other officers and volunteers with bloodhounds beat through the underbrush.

Warden McHan late Monday issued a brief statement declaring the six were believed sealed inside the police net and asking residents of the area not to become alarmed. Everyone with any type firearm in Gwinnett county was pressed into posse service.

With nightfall, McHan said, searchers had a much better chance to intercept the six. He pointed out the cover of darkness will give them their first opportunity to attempt to sneak through the tightly drawn police cordon.

J. B. Hatchett, assistant State director of corrections, said that Chief Prison Inspector J. L. Griffith and Inspector E. H. Kelly had been sent to Buford to investigate the escape. They will report their findings to the State Department of Corrections.

Hatchett said that the conveyor would no longer carry stone over the prison fence. Either the fence or the conveyor will be moved, so that a free escape elevator will not be provided for the incorrigibles, he added.

Warden MacHan said that once the fugitives were inside the steel-bodied cab and steel dump truck, they had a perfect shield against gunfire from guards.

The Mauldin brothers, both serving long term sentences for robbery and burglary, escaped from prison five times previously within the last three years, Sutton pointed out. He said Taylor escaped seven time previously and Bishop twice.

After an escape in 1949, the Mauldin brothers and Taylor, riding in a stolen auto, engaged in a running gun battle with DeKalb officers from Stone Mountain to Atlanta. They crashed through a blockade set up by Atlanta police on Memorial Drive at Candler Road. Joe Mauldin was wounded in the hip in an exchange of gunfire with Atlanta officers.

Spence Edwards

Ed Parker

Recaptured at the conclusion of the chase—Sept. 21, 1949—the trio was lodged in Fulton Tower. Returned to Tattnall, they were transferred back to the tower in March, 1950, for trial here on several robbery counts. The Mauldins and Taylor led a break from a fourth floor cell at the tower on March 18, 1950.

Roy Mauldin was recaptured near a farm home in Gaffney, S. C., where he had married a 16-year-old girl the day before officers closed in. Joe Mauldin was taken into custody as he attempted to rob a night club in Meridian, Miss., and Taylor was apprehended by FBI agents at Phenix City, Alabama.

Convicted here for transporting stolen firearms early in 1951, the trio was en route back to Tattnall State Prison on April 18, 1951, when they overpowered a U. S. Marshal and guard near Macon and escaped. They were recaptured, sent to Tattnall and later were transferred to the new Buford prison.

Prison officials said Parker and Edwards heretofore were not connected with the Mauldin gang. Parker was serving two life sentences plus a 6-to-15-year sentences from Floyd and Baldwin counties for robbery, burglary and murder.

Son Admits Exaggerating Wealth of Detroit Woman

DETROIT, Sept. 24—(AP)—Early reports on the fabulous wealth of Detroit socialite Mrs. Marion Peck Miles were "grossly exaggerated," her son acknowledged Monday.

And there was some question, too, as to the extent of overdieting as a factor in her health.

Mrs. Miles, an unusually attractive 44-year-old blonde, died late Saturday at her fashionable Grosse Pointe Farms mansion.

At that time her son, Butler, told reporters she was heiress to an estimated $100,000,000 of a Canadian canvas fortune left by her father, Francis G. Peck.

He also quoted her doctors as saying she died of purpuric anemia brought on solely by overdieting.

NEW VERSION

Monday a different story developed. Butler, 21-year-old college student, said he gave out the "exaggerated" report of his family's wealth because newspapermen had told him "the story wouldn't be interesting without the money angle."

He said that all he knew about his grandfather was that he was a "Canadian merchant of some wealth." He previously had identified him as a financier with vast holdings mostly in Canadian and foreign industries. He had said Peck's gross estate in 1925 was estimated at $147,000,000.

Young Miles insisted Monday that purpuric anemia induced by too rigid a diet was the principal cause of his mother's death. He said the death certificate, not yet filed, would list that ailment. "If there was anything else wrong I didn't know a thing about it," he added.

CANCER CAUSED DEATH

Mrs. Miles' personal physician, who insisted on remaining anonymous, said death was caused solely by cancer of the lung and would be so listed on the certificate.

Two women — one represented by the son as a doctor and one a nurse—had verified by telephone the son's dieting statement.

Mrs. Miles, listed in the Detroit social register, had been active in club functions here. Her husband, Francis Allen Miles, is a Detroit architect. He has been in seclusion since the first reports of his wife's death were published.

Bar Group Seeks Ban on Unsworn Court Statements

A bill will be introduced at the next session of the General Assembly providing that defendants in criminal cases may be sworn and questioned on the witness stand and allowing judges rather than juries to fix sentences in felony cases.

These two proposed bills along with one which would commit a defendant sustained in a general plea of insanity to Milledgeville State Hospital have been prepared by a Georgia Bar Association Committee on criminal law.

The chairman of the committee, Fulton Sol. Gen. Paul Webb, said the changes are "obviously needed."

At present, defendants are not sworn and may not be questioned. When a general plea of insanity is upheld under present law, a defendant may walk out of court a free man although insane, according to Webb.

NEW Hearing Aid Stirs Wave of Enthusiasm

Compact Electronic Unit Without Dangling Cords Hailed in Six Clinics!

NEW YORK: After a series of "sneak" previews in six hearing clinics throughout the Metropolitan area, tabulated reports of hearing experts working in the Acousticon Public Education Department reveal a spontaneous acceptance of a new and revolutionary scientific development for the hard of hearing.

No longer is it necessary to wear a tell-tale cord dangling from the ear. The new Acousticon has no box, nothing of any kind to hide in the clothes. On most women, it cannot be seen. The wearer is free both from cords and clothing noise. Using the telephone is a natural function.

A woman can wear even a strapless gown or swim suit without revealing the fact that she is hard of hearing. Because of the way it is worn, it assures clear, effortless hearing — in fact, better hearing than with any conventional hearing aid known.

This amazing new development may be seen and tried without cost or obligation at Acousticon of Atlanta, 224 Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga. FREE illustrated booklet will be sent by writing to the above address.

De Gasperi Asks Arms For Italy

Congress Applauds Premier's Address

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP) Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi Monday solemnly pledged his country's help in the event of World War III and pleaded for a "reasonable rearmament" of Italy to bulwark the defense of Western Europe.

Addressing a join session of Congress, the 70-year-old Italian leader declared:

"Europe once solidly united will relieve you of your sacrifices in men and arms, for she will herself contrive the defense of her peace and common freedom."

16-MINUTE ADDRESS

De Gasperi, who took refuge in the Vatican during Mussolini's wartime regime and led the fight to stave off Communism in Italy's turbulent post-war period, was frequently interrupted by applause as he set forth his country's case in a 16-minute address. He spoke in English.

A note of criticism was sounded later, however, by Sen. Jenner (Rep., Ind.), who declared in a Senate speech that the United States is "still buying" friends among the nations.

"How much did de Gasperi want today?" Jenner demanded. "It may not be in his speech, but we'll get it soon."

Other lawmakers noted that de Gasperi's arrival here coincided with reports that he will press for quick changes in the Italian peace treaty which now limits that country to an armed force of 300,000 men.

TRIESTE RETURN ASKED

Diplomatic sources said the United States, Britain and France are already drafting a joint declaration of plans to change the arms limitation provision in the 1947 treaty with Italy.

Speaking in the House chamber, de Gasperi told the lawmakers his country still is earnestly seeking the return of Trieste to Italy as recommended by the United States, Britain and France in 1948.

Hailing Congress as "this great stronghold of world democracy," de Gasperi declared:

"As free men, we wish to tell you we are greatful to you because, by demanding the revision of our unfair peace treaty, you have acknowledged that an effective and staunch alliance can not exist without equality of rights and full recognition of the independence, sovereignty and dignity of a nation."

The premier also paid tribute to American aid to Europe.

"Without your generous contributions," he said, "Europe—at least most certainly the anti-Communist front line of continental Europe—would already have collapsed."

Tito Says Disguised Red Planes Threaten

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 24—(U.P.)—Russia was accused by Marshal Tito Monday of massing Soviet bombers—painted with Yugoslav insiginia and colors—in Hungary and other neighboring lands, ready to attack Yugoslavia.

"We know this and we want the world to know it," he shouted in a speech broadcast to the nation.

Russia, he said, is stepping up "provocative actions" along all Yugoslavia's frontiers with Soviet satellite nations.

"But we are ready for them," he said. "They have not succeeded in breaking our unity . . . and they will not succeed."

Tito spoke before an audience at Titovo Uzice, the first town liberated by his partisans 10 years ago Monday.

The Yugoslav leader coupled his attack on Russia with strong praise for the West.

Russia and Russian-dominated leaders in the satellite countries, Tito said, "are more and more preparing their monstrous provocations." This, he said, is being done against the will of the people themselves.

$101 Million Housing Requested By Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—President Truman Monday asked Congress to appropriate $101,840,000 for defense housing.

Mr. Truman asked $40,000,000 for committee facilities and services such as water and sewer systems, streets and roads and refuse disposal in critical defense housing areas. These funds would be primarily for loans and grants to communities, but could be used for direct Federal construction where necessary.

He asked $50,000,000 to provide temporary public housing in critical defense housing areas and to construct permanent housing where private builders are unable and unwilling to meet minimum needs.

East Point To Nominate Councilmen

East Point citizens Tuesday will nominate four candidates for City Council in their first city-wide Democratic primary, and will vote on a $400,000 water bond issue.

The city Democratic executive committee will be in charge of the primary, with special poll managers counting the bond issue votes.

Polling places, to be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., will be at the East Point fire station in the first ward, the city auditorium in the second ward, W. D. Hall warehouse in the third ward and the Boys' Club community house in the fourth ward.

City-wide voting on councilmen, where only voters in the candidate's ward voted previously, was part of a city charter change passed by the last session of the Legislature. The charter change also called for four instead of two-year terms for councilmen. The four men elected this year will serve three years, and four to be elected next year wil serve full terms. The mayor's election also comes next year.

Candidates for nomination from the wards are:

First ward, A. L. Stanfield, unopposed.

Second ward, Incumbent Hubert H. Martin, R. C. (Bob) Astin and J. A. (Pat) Murphy.

Third ward, Incumbent W. Y. Keeler and former Mayor J. H. Blair.

Fourth ward, Incumbent W. C. Hudson, Jr., Fred Etris and William O. Walters.

The water bonds, if passed, will be used to help solve a water supply problem that this summer closed East Point swimming pools.

There are more than 5,500 registered voters in East Point.

POLICE BLOTTER

Is Fined $28 In Pet Shop Cruelty Case

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Recorder A. W. Callaway Monday assessed a $28 fine against Mrs. R. J. Johnson, 37, of 1112 East Cleveland Ave., East Point, on charges of cruelty to animals in a pet shop at 149 Forsyth St., S.W.

Lt. J. B. Harper and Ptl. D. H. Samples said a puppy in a display window of the pet shop was "chewed and mauled" by three other dogs in the cage Sunday. Mrs. Johnston, who with her husband operates the pet shop, branded the charge "unjust and uncalled for."

Johnston, who operates a printing shop at the Forsyth Street address, was placed under a similar charge last Christmas. Recorder Frank White assessed an $18 fine against Johnston, but his attorney immediately appealed. The case is still open on the police docket.

Juvenile Guile

A blonde young woman from Marietta and her father engaged in a brief dispute over her age Monday—with doubtful detectives as the unwilling referees.

Detectives J. J. Galvin and R. E. Finley reported the young woman was taken into custody as she left a downtown department store with $15 worth of clothing which, they said, she neglected to pay for.

Brought to headquarters, detectives related, she admitted taking $45 worth of clothing from another store.

The accused gave her age as 22, detectives said. She was booked at city jail for suspicion of larceny.

A short while later, her father appeared at city jail. He said she was definitely 16—which under regulations would mean she must be detained at the Fulton Juvenile Detention Home.

The girl protested vigorously that she was 22 and that she preferred to remain in city jail.

Detectives shook their heads in doubt.

She went to juvenile.

Daytona Beach Housewives Demand Action on Spray-Defying Mosquitoes

DELAND, Fla., Sept. 24—(AP)—About 100 Daytona Beach housewives brought their mosquito troubles to a meeting of the Volusia County commissioners Monday.

They want ditching, pumping, diking, filling and spraying until the mosquito menace is removed.

One woman complained that spraying alone is not enough. "They hide under the leaves when the spray plane comes over and come out again when the spray has evaporated," she said.

The commission agreed to place the complaint before the anti-mosquito control board and suggest a conference.

GE Unveils Atom Device For Treatment of Cancer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—A new weapon designed to fight cancer with atomic energy material equivalent in power to the world's entire supply of radium was unveiled Monday by the General Electric Company.

Its developers said the apparatus is designed to utilize radioactive cobalt against deep-seated cancers in the same way that extremely powerful X-ray machines are now employed in a limited number of hospitals.

They said it was intended to operate with a small amount of radioactive cobalt costing an estimated $18,000 but that an equivalent amount of radium to do the same job of radiation would cost $26,000,000.

One of the GE officials, Dr. E. Dale Trout, told a reporter that the amount of cobalt to be used in the device would be equal in radiating power "to that of the world's entire known supply of between 1,500 and 1,700 grams of radium."

Predicting the development would "greatly" reduce the cost of high-energy radiation treatment of cancer as compared with the cost of employing high-energy X-ray machines, the officials said:

The new apparatus would make it economically feasible for "numerous hospitals" throughout the nation to employ high-energy techniques.

This, they added, would bring high-energy radiation treatment for cancer "within reach of a much larger portion of the population than ever before."

The apparatus — whose main part resembles a sawed-off gun barrel about three feet long and 13½ inches in diameter—was shown at the opening of the annual meeting of the American Roentgen Ray Society.

REFUNDS

Whitman, Jr., of Atlanta, stated no member intended to violate the law. If the payments were made illegally, Whitman said he was sure every member would return the money.

Thrasher reported calling Collins' and Whitman's attention to the excess expenditures a year ago. The state was not reimbursed, but, instead, the practice of holding meetings over the state was continued, he said.

"The Legislature authorized us to construct new buildings at Cave Springs and to sell property at Macon," Whitman commented. "I cannot believe the General Assembly would want the Board to take responsibility for these projects without inspecting them."

REFUND REQUESTS

Thrasher asked for the following refunds from Board members in 1951:

Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, of Athens, $164.70; Clark Duncan, of Buena Vista, $138.78; Whitman, $117.85; Lonnie Sweat, of Blackshear, $101.80; Irwin Kimsey, of Clarkesville, $87.55; J. D. Rogers, of Blakely, $77.80; Henry Blount, of Waynesboro, $69.33; C. G. Milner, of Rome, $63.96; James S. Peters, of Manchester, $47.80, and Herschel Lovett, of Dublin, $44.77.

The auditor called for the following refunds from 1950: Blount, $67.20; Duncan, $142.24; Peters. $60.68; Sweat, $125; J. W. Overstreet, of Wadley, $47.30; Kay Tipton, of Madison, $10; Milner, $42.80; Rogers, $79.10; Lovett. $12.80; Kimsey, $21.70, and Whitman, $41.40.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Peiping radio Monday heralded the production of the first jeep in Red China. The broadcast, heard here by the Associated Press, said the jeep was turned out at the Tientsin automobile assembly plant.

GOP Senator Holds Gabrielson 'Dumb'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(UP)—Clare Hoffman (Rep., Mich.) said Monday that if Republican national chairman Guy Gabrielson is asked to resign, "it should be only on the grounds that he is dumb."

Hoffman told the House Garbielson had done nothing improper in his dealings with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but added:

"Why he would ask anyone in this administration to help him out, I don't know."

Towns Suggests Study of 'Plan' By City, County

Fulton Commissioner Jack Towns Monday, in a radio address, called for city and county officials to get together and study "a little correction here and a little change there" in the Plan of Improvement.

The commissioner reiterated former statements that he is interested only in "making the Plan a success." He added, however, that "some officials will have to give up some of their pet ideas and forget political boundary lines in order to work it out in harmony."

Towns also registered concern over what he called "the highway robbery" of some of the county's property due to consolidation. "I don't know how the city has a moral right to ask for all our police cars, radio equipment, parks equipment, fire trucks and other things which were paid for by the county bond funds," he said.

The speaker was not specific on what changes he thought should be made in the Plan. He did suggets that the city and county officials meet to discuss the Plan bills in full with an eye toward making them "correct in every detail."

Germany

meeting, and they are many, are lessened by an ominous sign that the Russian campaign to block West Germany's integration into West Europe has made another gain.

Dr. Hermann Ehlers, president of the Federal Bundestag, declared that he thought renewed Communist offers for East-West talks on German unity were "certainly worth consideration."

Dr. Ehlers, who is a leading member of Dr. Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union, added he thought the new East German appeal differs from all previous offers.

The Federal cabinet already has rejected Communist requests for negotiations on unity. But the Bundestag was not. It will debate the issue Thursday.

LONG PARLEY PROBABLE

So while the Allied High Commissioners do their utmost to integrate Federal Germany into the Western economic and military political system, East Germany at Soviet instigation is maintaining pressure to divert the people and politicians of the West from the Allied goal through promises of reunification.

The two most significant results of Monday's Allied-German meeting were, first, a plain statement that Germans will not gain in sovereignty until they give on rearmament, and, second, indications that the negotiations on sovereignty between Germany and the Allies will be long.

The three high commissioners and Dr. Adenauer will meet again Oct. 1 for further discussion of general aspects of these negotiations. Not until after that meeting will detailed discussions between teams of Allied and German experts begin.

ARRIVES IN ENGLAND
Duke of Windsor

GEORGE VI

king has suffered no relapse the doctors are expected to issue a somewhat less guarded and more informative bulletin.

At that time it may be expected that details of the malady from which the king is suffering will have been published. The "lung resection" (removal of part or whole of a lung) performed on the king Sunday morning was primarily exploratory, and biological examination of the affected lung tissue cannot be completed in less than 48 hours—that is, before Tuesday noon.

MALADY UNDETERMINED

As a result of the extreme caution shown in the medical bulletins, rumors regarding the king's affliction have spread far and wide. These have been fostered in part by the fact—acknowledged in medical circles — that major lung operations nowadays are occasioned mainly by three types of malady: tuberculosis, cancer or non-malignant tumor. Whether the king is suffering from one or none of these, however, will not be fully known even by the king's doctors for another 24 hours.

In these circumstances, although Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh have decided privately on the airplane that is to carry them at the end of this week to Canada to begin their long prepared royal tour, they will not make their plans final until the King is definitely out of danger. They, too, are awaiting the report of the doctors and perhaps the working of providence.

Monday the King was resting quietly in his own apartments on the second floor of Buckingham Palace. Sunday night he was taken from the specially fitted operating chamber to his own rooms overlooking a secluded inner court.

QUEEN VISITS HIM

The Queen alone of the royal family was allowed to enter the King's room Monday morning and she only stayed for a few minutes. This evening Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret were permitted by doctors to tiptoe in to see their father but no one else will be admitted to the King's presence in the days ahead except the doctors and four day and night nurses on duty at the Palace.

The King's elder brother and former King, now the Duke of Windsor, arrived alone in London Monday morning on a boat train from Paris. His arrival was purely coincidental. He has come to promote the publication of his memoirs in Britain. He learned that the King's operation actually had taken place only after publication of the first official bulletin.

The Duke of Windsor, who is staying privately in the city, has announced that he will visit the King before returning to Paris.

COPIOUS OXYGEN

As the King continued to rest aided by copious draughts of oxygen, some members of the royal household expressed concern that Queen Elizabeth was overtaxing her powers of resistance. The devotion of the royal family is a byword and the Queen is said to have had very little rest in recent days.

"We are trying to persuade her to rest as much as possible," said one friend of the royal family. "She is the mainstay of the household and though she is bearing up extremely well it has been an exceptionally trying time for her and for her daughters."

There is not much anyone could do. The doctors were still in charge and the royal family—like any family in similar circumstances—could only wait and pray.

Union Enters $1,500,000 Suit at Macon

MACON, Sept. 24—(INS)—A $1,500,000 damage suit was filed by the Textile Workers of America (CIO) against Atlantic Cotton Mills Monday in Macon.

The union charged in the federal court suit that the company violated a labor contract. Chief point at issue was the alleged lay-off of about 175 workers at the mill.

Company spokesmen would not comment.

Uranium Chunks Found in Texas Called Souvenirs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(INS) — Congressional atomic chairman Sen. McMahon (Dem., Conn.) said Monday the two chunks of uranium found at Dalhart, Texas, were taken from Los Alamos, N. M., atomic laboratory as "souvenirs."

He said he had been informed that the chunks were removed from the laboratory at the end of the war and are made of ordinary uranium, not refined to the point where it could be used in an atomic bomb.

Community Chest Fund Urged by Chairman Smith

A strong appeal to Atlantans to raise $1,533,000 to support Community Chest activities for another year was voiced here Monday by E. D. Smith, Jr., one of three cochairmen of the 1951 drive.

Smith, speaking at the Atlanta Rotary Club, assured his audience that the Chest is "healthy" and is being operated "without waste or duplication."

He said the quota's increase of 23 percent over last year's goal was due to the higher cost of living and the additions of the United Defense Fund and the Chest's depreciation and capital expenditures fund.

Smith said that this year tabs for report luncheons would be picked up by nine Atlanta business firms. Formerly they were paid through Chest funds.

The success of the drive, he said, depends on "every man, woman and child in the community." He stressed the importance of the smaller giver and urged that the average employee who gave $1.35 last year increase his gift to the $5 national average.

Arthritis Drive Opens

John Jarrell, Atlanta businessman, has been appointed Fulton County chairman of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Fund Appeal which Monday opened a two-week campaign to raise $30,000 in the Atlanta area.

In accepting the appointment from L. F. Montgomery, president of the arthritis group, Jarrell pointed out that contribution canisters are being distributed throughout the city. Sixty percent of the money will be retained for local use and 40 percent will go to the National Foundation for nation-wide research and development of treatment.

Committee officers who will aid Jarrell and Montgomery are Emory Williams, executive-secretary, and Alfred D. Boylston, treasurer. Other committee members are Robert T. (Bobbie) Jones, Jr., Dr. Judson C. Ward, R. Howard Dobbs, Jr., Lambdin Kay, Dean S. Paden, Tucker Wayne, Julius A. McCurdy, Dean John B. Walthour, Scott Candler, Guy W. Rutland, Sr., and John K. Ottley, Jr. Mrs. Walker L. Curtis, president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Fulton County Medical Society, heads the Women's Division of the drive.

Talmadge Proposes 'Pay-as-You-Go' In State Hospital Improvement

Gov. Talmadge declared Monday he wanted to build hospitals at Milledgeville on a "pay-as-you-go" basis instead of issuing bonds, as he allocated an additional $1,750,000 to the State Welfare Department.

Finding a $19,000,000 surplus built up by the sales tax and other taxes, the Governor distributed $4,525,000 of this extra money to the Highway Department, the Board of Regents and the Welfare Department as part of their "contingent" budgets.

The Chief Executive had been asked by the Georgia Junior Chamber of Commerce and State Welfare Director Alan Kemper to activate an $8,000,000 Hospital Building Authority and immediately construct all buildings necessary at Milledgeville.

Talmadge said the additional money for the Welfare Department would provide for construction of a new hospital building at Milledgeville and for replacing a burned dormitory at Gracewood, institution for mentally defective children.

"We need 4,000 more beds at the mental institution," Talmadge asserted. "This means four new buildings. This new allotment, which becomes effective Oct. 1, will cut the need to three buildings. We already have built three buildings at Milledgeville during the present administration. If we can build the necessary facilities without activating the Hospital Authority, we can save the interest the state would have to pay on revenue certificates."

The Governor said he would consider activating the Hospital Authority, however, if state revenue declined and the regular building program faced interruption.

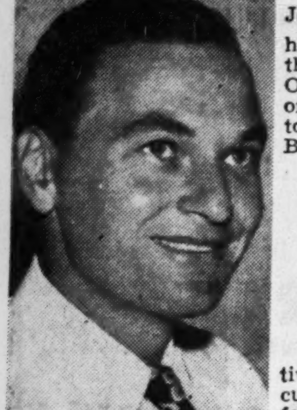
Furman BISHER

Sports Editor, The Constitution

On the Day of Sept. 17

When the Summer's race is run and we're bundled in our clumsy Winter toggery far removed from the more deliberate emotions of baseball, there will have been time to investigate more casually what won and lost the American League pennant. And the roving finger will come to rest on the date of Sept. 17, in Yankee Stadium, home team at bat in the ninth inning, Cleveland in the field, score tied, 1-1.

At this particular point, Cleveland hovered three decimal points in second place behind the Yankees. They had only two days before being voted the team most likely to succeed to the World Series.



BISHER

They were in great danger, however. Joe DiMaggio had beaten out an infield hit and Gene Woodling had sent him to third base with a single to right field. One man was out and Manager Al Lopez of the Indians decided to fill the bases to set up a force at all points. He ordered Bobby Brown walked.

Here, Phil Rizzuto walked to the plate in his spry gait, chopping the air with his bat as he made short, practice swings. Rough-as-sandpaper Bob Lemon took a full windup, feeling safe with the bases loaded and feeling that the Yankees would hoe a conservative row.

The row was a little more conservative, for the blasting Yankees whose custom it is to win by blowing down the fences, than Lopez and Lemon had suspected. DiMaggio paused, eye-witness reports say, just long enough for Lemon to get to the top of his motion, and then made the break for the plate. Rizzuto, the bunter supreme, whipped his stick to attention as only he can, leveled the ball between Lemon and Luke Easter, who is notably anvil-footed.

The Indians were helpless. DiMaggio spiked home plate just as Lemon reached the ball, and the big pitcher's shoulders sagged as he stood, ball in hand, with no play at any station. The Yankees won, 2-1, and their lead became one full game.

The Board Ruled Aganst Lopez

Of far more importance than this one single defeat was the shocking manner in which it came about. It had the effect of convincing the Indians they should no longer believe in themselves, Santa Claus or the rights of man. In the ensuing two days they survived the Battle of the Choke-ups in Boston, but the throttling choke came when they submitted twice to Detroit, previously their most kindly acquaintance of the season. They had lost only twice before to the Tigers.

Psychologically, the Yankee blow completely removed the starch from the Indians' backs. It also put a serious dent in the confidence in Indian leadership. As I get it, the Board of Second-Guessers had already got into press box session before Rizzuto struck his dainty blow. The theory was this:

That with men on first (Woodling) and third (DiMaggio), Lopez should have played his infield for the double play. His outfield was correctly aligned. He had sent Bob Kennedy and his strong arm to replace weak-armed Dale Mitchell in left. Swift Harry Simpson had taken Barney McCosky's place in right, and the outer threesome had been drawn in to cut down the run at the plate in case of a playable fly.

Instead, the bunt. Lopez insists that he would play it again as he did, though he and the entire body of after-thought artists recognize in Rizzuto the greatest bunter since Blackjack Pershing bunted the Kaiser out of Berlin.

Three 20-Winners, But No Flag

As they stand on this morning, the Indians are done for. But, of course, Indians have been running afoul of Manhattan ever since the Dutch moved in and bought the joint. At two and one-half games out, they have a figurative chance left. They would be in better position were the Yankees playing somebody like the loose-as-a-goose Athletics or Tigers instead of the tight and stage-frightened Red Sox.

It's almost an insult for a big league team to come up with three 20-game winners and no pennant. Three and almost four, for Lemon had 17 last time I looked. Feller had been good for 22, and Mike Garcia and Early Wynn 20 apiece. Lemon, Wynn and Garcia have lost rather heavily, but they have pitched well throughout the campaign.

Their effectiveness has not been matched by the gentlemen in charge of procuring Cleveland runs. Punchless, they are called, and yet it's hard to see in a lineup of Larry Doby, Luke Easter, Dale Mitchell, Al Rosen, Bobby Avilla and Jim Hagan, among others, lack of punch.

Doby and Mitchell are percentage hitters. Mitchell has never hit under .300 in his career. Doby, Easter and Rosen hit the long ball. A year ago Rosen led the American League in home runs as a freshman. He cooled considerably this year, but he has still manufactured the long blow 24 times and has driven in 100 runs. He must have been driving in against the wrong team at the wrong time.

The circumstantial case against the Red Sox has been broken down considerably. They have been playing litter cases in the infield and the pitching has often resorted to abomnible extremes. Tom Yawkey's getting a low return for the cash layout he has in his employees.

I'm of the firm conviction that the Red Sox, who've been "waiting until next year" for the past four years, will now have to wait until the next life for their next pennant.

Preacher Roe to Rest On 22-2 Mound Mark

BROOKLYN, Sept. 24—(AP)—Manager Chuck Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers said Monday Preacher Roe would start no more games until the opener of the World Series—unless he's needed to help clinch the pennant.

Roe, with a record of 22 games won and only two lost, has a percentage of .917. If he loses no more games, or finishes 22-2, Preach will have a new National League record.

Roe defeated Philadelphia Saturday, 6-2, and if the Dodgers don't clinch the flag in Boston where they have four games, he'll pitch against the Phillies in Philadelphia Friday night. Brooklyn has three games in Philadelphia, closing the season Sunday.

Freddie Fitzsimmons won 16 and lost two in 1940 with the Dodgers for an .889 percentage mark. The American League record of 15-1, for .938, was made by Johnny Allen with Cleveland in 1937.

Roe was beaten 4-0 in a night game by Sal Maglie of the Giants at the Polo Grounds June 26. The other defeat was July 15, when Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati took the first game of a double-header, 5-2.

If the Dodgers clinch the pennant and have any regular season games remaining, Roe will pitch a three-inning tuneup for the series.

Baron-Trav Playoff Tilt Rained Out

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 24—(AP)—Rain Monday forced a second postponement in the Southern Association playoff finals between Little Rock and Birmingham.

Eddie Glennon, Birmingham Baron general manager, announced the postponement after a heavy thunderstorm swept the city in late afternoon.

The Barons, leading the pennant-winning Travelers three games, had hoped to polish off the series Monday night and depart for Houston and the start of the Dixie Series there. They'll try again Tuesday night.

Baron Manager Red Marion said he will stick with his decision to start Bobo Newsom (16-11) in the fourth game. Traveler Manager Gene Desautels plans to call on Bill Connelly.

Birmingham swept the opening two games of the playoff finals at Little Rock. They were rained out Saturday night, but the Barons took their third in a row Sunday.

Tough Tar Heels Mellow Stern Carl Snavely; Hungry Gators Lie in Wait in Sunshine State

Youthful Carolina Squad Hit Stride Against State

By BOB QUINCY
Special to The Constitution

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Sept. 24—There was a time when Carl Snavely had the reputation of being as unemotional as a hatchet murderer. Fifteen years ago, a touchdown run of more than 50 yards might rate a throat clearing, but a soft one.

Mr. Snavely's make-up has changed considerably. One of his admirers who knew him during the era at Cornell almost fractured a jaw so low did it drop when he witnessed the coach bear-hugging a tailback before 43,000 fans here last weekend.

It came following a Bud Carson jaunt of 74 yards and a touchdown on a second quarter punt return. The reason was apparent. It was the score that was needed to defeat North Carolina State—and for some time, Snavely was wondering whether his team had the offense to move goalward.

Early practice sessions had been disappointing, the Tar Heels looking defensively pure, offensively stagnant. Secret scrimmages against Washington & Lee and Quantico Marines did little to pep the Carolina staff. Their club was a question mark going against the Wolfpack.

The score was 21-0 at final reading and a flabbergasted Snavely did not try to hide his emotion at the finish. He patted freshmen on the back, joined in laughter at jokes not particularly funny and betrayed the character of past seasons that has branded him a tight-lipped Dutchman.

"I think we may have something here," he said, eyes gleaming, at the conclusion. "I still have my worries, but the kids showed me they could block and tackle and run. I wouldn't have wanted to bet on it before the first game."

What could have been an ordinary team has come to be one of promise, and although State didn't flash the attack of a real power, it was pleasing to see the Carolina squad run against such a stern line as the Wolfpack annually produces.

Carson, a stubby Pennsylvanian, was one of the real pleasers. He has been fighting for an offensive berth for three seasons, and his standout job at returning punts (eight for 166 yards) may earn him a crack at the top job. However, to do so he will have to oust sophomore Billy Williams.

Although being held to a minimum of yardage Saturday Williams showed he knows his way around and carried most of the duty, which he will likely do against Georgia on Saturday. He retires for a long-legged operative named Frank Wissman, who runs and passes quite well, and the eager Carson.

Carolina critics found out several things about their ball club against State, but several were left unanswered. The ends, declared to be weak, came through magnificently on defense. The 29 rushing yards the Wolfpack could show attested the middle was sound enough.

The green backs showed up well, especially a frosh whiz named Larry Parker, an All-American as a high schooler at Charlotte. He was confined to defense. Snavely told him after the game, "Larry, you played your position as well as any back I've ever seen."

There were no serious injuries, save a wrist rip that may keep backer Doug Bruton sidelined.

North Carolina has a great guard in Capt. Joe Dudeck, a defensive monster, and the tackles are four deep each side, making that the strong point of the entire line. Center is coming along, with the offensive work of Andy Miketa branded the best of his career.

Carolina has the possibilities, and could become a national power if all problems are ironed out in game No. 2 as well as they were in the opener. But as Snavely points out: "Georgia comes here on another Saturday—and Georgia is another team, a much better team."

Paper Derails 'Lopez Limited' After Month

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24—(AP)—For more than a month, the Cleveland News has been running a drawing of the "Lopez Limited" on the top of the front page.

It was the picture of a train, steaming the Cleveland Indians speedily towards the pennant. A banner was draped over the train, saying: "We'll be back Sept. 29 on top—we hope!—Al Lopez."

Monday, the News again carried the drawing, but the train was a mass of wreckage. The banner read: "We'll be back Sept. 29—we hope!—Al Lopez."

Poppa Hall's Punt Returns Add to Floridians' Punch

By JOE LIVINGSTON
Special to The Constitution

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 24—Sentimentally backed to a man by the entire state, Florida's Fighting Gators are now confronted by the most significant hurdle they have faced since Bob Woodruff rode the dusty trail in from Texas 20 months ago to launch a football reconstruction period in the land of sunshine and grid mediocrity.

Florida won five of 10 last year and might have made it six, but the goddess of luck gave Georgia Tech one last chance which the Atlantans took and won, 16-13.

Calmer heads advise that $17,000-a-year Woodruff's second edition here is still a season or so away. But enthusiasm has put some chips on the board nevertheless.

For all they were worth—and good attractions they proved at the time, Florida's first two victories over Wyoming and The Citadel were only preliminaries.

The first major adversary, destiny rules, is to be Georgia Tech, this year in Gainesville.

A third straight triumph would place a coveted conference victory in the larder and show that the Gators are already men among men. That is the stake this week for Florida.

One fact that may be overlooked by the more rabid in the Peninsula State is that Florida has shown very little in the first two games which would indicate they are in the same class with the conquerors of SMU.

Florida's main offensive weapon, Haywood Sullivan, went two above his average per game last year when he completed 11 passes in the 13-0 Wyoming triumph. But last Saturday night against The Citadel he connected with only one of five and was forced to run—or duck—on other efforts.

Only two Gator backs, senior fullback Floyd Huggins and senior righthalf Billy Reddell, have shone so far and each in only one of two games.

Coach Woodruff dug so deep in the first game that he had a freshman, only 15 days on the campus, in at defensive left tackle in the first quarter.

Both of Florida's games were played in the rain. Whether a dry field and the incentive of playing a Southeastern Conference foe will bring out a greater potential in them, only kickoff time Saturday night will tell.

Assuming that Tech coaches know of Sullivan—and Jacket backfield coach Frank Broyles brought him along last year—there are factors that give Gator rooters hope.

Whereas last year Sullivan saw depleted an inadequate but complete supply of pass receivers by the third game—against Tech—this season he is fortunate to have two full sets of pass-grabbing flankmen in Jim French, Bob Knight, Don Brown and sophomore Jack O'Brien. In addition, defensive halfback Buford Long has blossomed into a talented receiver.

Add Reddell and Huggins, plus not one but two good punters to replace the fine one gone by graduation and a sophomore triple threat in 205-pound quarterback-halfback Rick Casares, and one finds a Gator team not without ability.

National intercollegiate high jump champion, 196-pound J. (Poppa) Hall, has brought back nine kicks 224 yards in two games, an average of 35 yards per run, for one touchdown.

Inasmuch as some may doubt the real strength of SMU now that both Doak Walker and Kyle Rote are gone, Florida may provide a proving test for coach Bobby Dodd's victory-happy crowd.

Giants Edge Braves, 4-3

Victory Trims Idle Dodgers' Lead to Two and Half Games

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(AP)—The relentless New York Giants slashed idle Brooklyn's lead to 2½ games Monday with a 4-3 victory over Boston that fired new hope in their long-shot pennant chances.

Brooklyn still needed any combination of four wins or New York defeats to clinch the National League championship. Both the Dodgers and Giants finish up on the road.

The Dodgers, enjoying an off day before a twi-night doubleheader in Boston, had seven to play, the Giants only four. After four in Boston, Brooklyn winds up with three in Philadelphia. The Giants play at Philadelphia Tuesday and Wednesday and finish at Boston Saturday and Sunday.

Eddie Stanky, whose error opened the door for a two-run Boston ralley in the fourth, struck the winning blow with a ninth-inning single.

Tied 3-3 going to the last of the ninth with young Chet Nichols blazing an eight-strikeout game, Don Mueller opened with a single. Manager Leo Durocher sent in Dave Williams to run for Mueller.

Hipps In, Langley Out for Tar Heels

DiPietro Groomed for Heavy Linebacker Duty This Week

By BILL COULTER
Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, Sept. 24—Georgia received a stunning blow in defense plans against North Carolina Saturday when Coach Wally Butts learned Monday that linebacker Derwent Langley would definitely miss the Chapel Hill affair.

"He was a key man in our plans to stop Carolina," solemnly remarked Butts, "but Trainer Sam Richwine says the broken blood vessel in his thigh which caused him to miss the George Washington game will keep him out this week and no telling how long."

Derwent Langley

Bright spot for the Bulldog headman, however, was news that Captain Claude Hipps, who missed the opener due to a broken hand, will be ready to face the Tar Heels.

Georgia coaches revealed that they will groom sophomore Francis DiPietro for heavy linebacking duties against Carolina. DiPietro was a linebacker in high school and played left half on defense against George Washington.

Two other Bulldogs missed the GW game due to injuries—senior tackle Richard Steele and junior left half Jack Roberts. Steele will miss the Carolina game also, hobbled with a bad knee, while Roberts should be recovered from a pulled leg muscle.

The Bulldogs will depart by train Thursday night for Durham where they will make their headquarters in the Washington Duke Hotel, motoring to Chapel Hill the morning of the game.

FROM THE SIDELINES—When Georgia plays North Carolina, Bulldog halfback Conrad Manisera of Lyndhurst, N. J., and freshman tackle Jay DeBow of Port Washington, N. Y., will face former high school teammates, halfback Bob White of Lyndhurst and guard Paul Hursh of Port Washington. . . . Monday afternoon's drills were devoted to perfecting the offense and defense. . . Coach Butts has long feared Carolina's punt returning success, which he terms the best in college football during recent years.

Bisher Talks To QB Club At 'Opener'

An address by Constitution Sports Editor Furman Bisher keynoted the first 1951 meeting of the Atlanta Quarterback Club Monday night.

Bisher discussed Southeastern Conference and Southern Conference team strengths and made observations on outstanding individuals. He picked Kentucky's Vito (Babe) Parilli as the outstanding player in the SEC, with Georgia's Marion Campbell a top contender.

Sid Scarborough, city schools athletic director, made the first '51 "chalk-talk," a discourse on football offense.

Georgia Coach Wallace Butts will speak next Monday, and another blackboard dissertation is scheduled.

CONSTITUTION PICKS:

Jackets Chosen Team of Week

By EDWIN POPE

Georgia Tech made it no contest picking The Constitution's first 1951 Southeastern Conference Team of the Week. Everybody has spoken for the Jackets but the Klassy Kids themselves, so listen:

"Team of the week?" echoed Glenn Turner. "Well, I think our defense ought to get the credit."

"Well, gee, that's swell," Johnny Hicks mused, "that's swell. But I believe we knew we could win. The coaches got us ready just right. I think it was our conditioning that did it."

"I dunno why you're asking me," muttered Larry Morris. "I dunno much about football. I just get out there and try to play."

Dave Davis tapped a sudden vein of logic. "I think the reason we beat SMU is because we played together and nobody tried to hog anything."

He went on to explain. "When our offensive team would come out, the defensive team on the way in would clap them on the back and thank 'em. Nobody on this team seems proud of himself. We think of it as an organization and we sort of appreciate everybody else. It looks to me like that's the right way to have a team."

Clustered by the practice field Monday, Tech's titanic tots tried to shake off the natural ecstasy of a fine start and think of the future. (Lest someone may not know them, Hicks, Hardeman and Turner are sophomore backs who scored Tech's first touchdowns of 1951. Davis is a loosely knit sophomore end from Roanoke who was hurt on the first play of the SMU game and went on until halftime before mentioning it. Morris is a taciturn freshman fullback who savagely stood off SMU line thrusts until the Jackets got their offensive guns to working.)

Hicks checked in with a pertinent thought. "Don't forget we can be the team of one week and the flop of the next. Don't let's get overconfident."

"We won't," persisted Turner, "we know we're going to have to play our best to beat Florida. I hear they got the best backfield in the conference. But me, I feel good about things because of our pass defense. I thought they were great holding off SMU, letting them complete short passes near the end of the game so the clock would keep running but guarding against the long ones."

The remainder of the offensive platoon in attendance — Hicks, Hardeman and Davis—concurred, then spoke so glowingly of Morris as a line-backer that the long-jawed, painfully shy Decatur neophyte all but bolted.

"Sometimes," said Turner, "I get worried about our offense. I was sort of ashamed because I wasn't really ready Saturday because I had my tonsils out the week before. They gave me Aspergum and my throat didn't bother me but my legs, they got tired. I just wasn't in shape." He caused one to wonder just what he might accomplish when fully conditioned.

Davis was ready with some more logic.

"I think Hicks hit the nail on the head, talking about condition. Shoot, a ball-game isn't hard compared to scrimmages we've been having. I didn't play but two plays the second half but I noticed that when our team was still sprinting, SMU was beginning to droop a little coming out of the huddle or lining up on defense. I'm not saying we're going to have a great season because I know we have a lot of young fellers—like me—who need experience. But I do say we'll be okay long as our legs are okay. They said I couldn't play against Florida Saturday because I hurt my hip but I think I may can go."

About this time, senior end Pete Ferris came by and beckoned the bunch through the gates of Rose Bowl field. "Come on, children," he grinned, and Tech's bouncing babes trotted after him laughing.

That may be how it got to be Team of the Week, just being a happy team every day.

Third Morris For Techsters?

Jimmy Morris, star freshman back from Marietta, can have a shot at the Georgia Tech safety position as soon as he shakes off the effects of a bruised kidney.

Coach Bobby Dodd said Monday he would like to take the 168-pound yearling to Gainesville, Fla., tthis week for use as a punt returner to take some of the pressure off Jakie Rudolph.

Rudolph, 150-pound junior pass defense ace from Clarksville, Tenn., has been forming a double-safety on punt returns with Harry Wright, Kingsport, Tenn., junior. But Rudolph was returned to the school infirmary Monday as a precautionary measure; he was bedded with fever a portion of last week.

"We like Jimmy's running," said Dodd. "I think he might do us a good job even though he is only a freshman."

Morris was the state's second leading Class AA scorer last year with 109 points. If elevated, he would be Tech's third Morris. George is a senior center, Larry a freshman fullback.

The Jackets worked lightly Monday and contact work will be indulged in sparingly hereout.

Hill Prince Romps Again

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(AP)—C. T. Chenery's Hill Prince proved he is ready for the big stake events coming up at Belmont Park when he won a $5,000 allowance race Monday by three-fourths of a length from Mrs. Louis Lazare's Sheilas Reward.

Hill Prince, American champion last year, was ridden by Eddie Arcaro and won without urging after following the pace set by Sheilas Reward.

The winner was timed in 1:35, 2-5 for the mile and was the favorite.

Leaders Race At Peach Bowl

Championship of the 1951 racing season at the Peach Bowl Speedway will be decided Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. with a special 50-lap feature headlining the five-event program.

Center of attraction in this lengthy battle will be Jack Smith's efforts to overtake Roscoe Thompson for the championship and the new passenger automobile which goes to the winner.

Smith now trails Thompson by a matter of 40 points for the season. Some 30 cars are expected to start, creating quite a traffic jam on the quarter-mile oval.

Biscan Has Top ERA in Southern

Memphis Southpaw Posts 2.55; Liddle Hurls Most Shutouts

By JESSE OUTLAR

In general there was an acute shortage of good left-handed pitchers in the Southern Association this past season, but southpaws took most of the hurling honors.

Frank Biscan, soft-tossing 31-year-old lefty who had a 16-9 record with Memphis, compiled the top ERA, a fancy 2.55. That was a marked improvement over his 4.08 mark with San Antonio in the Texas League last year.

Portsider Al Yaylian, the Little Rock junk dealer, led the percentage parade, with a 16-5 chart. Right-hander Don Carlsen, recalled from New Orleans by Pittsburgh had an ERA of 2.58 and an 11-3 record, but did not work enough innings to qualify.

Memphis' Dick Littlefield, another southpaw, took strikeout laurels with 195 victims. Atlanta's Don Liddle, a member of the unorthodox brigade, was the shutout king with five and ranked third with an ERA of 2.92. Right-hander John Maldovan of Atlanta was only a point above Liddle, but worked only 83 frames.

Marion Fricano, Mobile right-hander, was second in earned runs with 2.77, and Bobo Newsom, veteran Birmingham showboat, hurled 237 innings to qualify as the loop's busiest and oldest pitcher.

Babe Barna, as previously announced, was the stick king, scoring to a final .358 as a result of a sensational slugging streak down the stretch. Birmingham's Jim Piersall clouted .346 for place money, Nashville's Bama Ray was third at .338 mark, and Atlanta's Jack Dittmer finished fourth with .334. Dittmer blasted 42 doubles to lead in that department.

Jack Harshman, Nashvile first baseman, struck 47 homers and had the most total bases, 303. Other leaders included Walt Moryn, of Mobile, with 148 rbi's; Dixie Upright, of Memphis, 13 triples, Hal Simpson, of Little Rock, 121 runs.

Hank Ertman, of Atlanta, was the flashiest first baseman, with a glittering .989 fielding average. Other fielding leaders: Spook Jacobs, Mobile, second base, .979; Walt Rogers, Mobile-Birmingham, third base, .957; Scooter Koshorek, Little Rock, shortstop, .945; Lamar Dorton, New Orleans, catcher, .984; Bill Kennedy, New Orleans, pitcher, 1.000; Ralph Rowe, Nashville, outfielder, .995.

Nashville, with a .287 team average, was the best hitting team, while Little Rock led in the glove work with a .971 average.

Harry Lee Joins Cracker Staff

Harry Lee, business manager of the Waycross Bears, Atlanta farm club in the Georgia-Florida League, will join the front office staff of the Crackers Tuesday, President Earl Mann announces.

Lee drew acclaim for outstanding promotional work at Waycross. The club, which finished third in the regular season and won the play-offs, led the Class D circuit in attendance.

Feature of the season was a record crowd for Class C ball when over 6,000 fans came out for a special night.

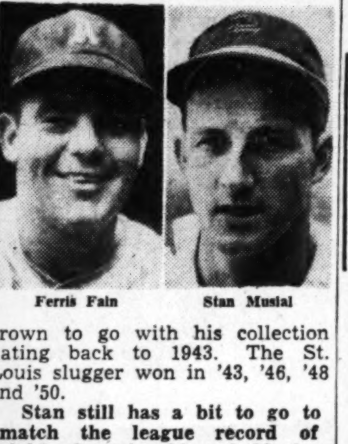
Stan Musial Nears Fifth Bat Crown

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(AP)—Stan Musial is almost a sure thing to win his fifth National League batting championship with a .358 average and only four games to play.

Leading runnerup Richie Ashburn of the Phillies by 17 points, Musial seems assured of another crown to go with his collection dating back to 1943. The St. Louis slugger won in '43, '46, '48 and '50.



Ferris Fain   Stan Musial

Stan still has a bit to go to match the league record of eight championships held by Honus Wagner 1900-1911 or the 12 won by Ty Cobb in the American from 1907 to 1919. But he is only 30 with many years to go.

Musial probably will better his 1950 mark when his .346 was good enough to win.

Ashburn .341, in second place, has a seven-point edge on Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, .334, with the Dodgers' Roy Campanella fourth at .328.

Kiner's second half rush gave him the home run lead with 41 to Brooklyn Gil Hodge's 39. Kiner also led in total runs, 123.

Boston's Warren Spahn has a lock on the strikeout title with 158 victims.

A's Fain Gains Six Points in AL

CHICAGO, Sept. 24—(AP)—Ferris Fain of Philadelphia picked up six more points last week to boost his average to .347, far in the lead for the American League batting championship.

Chicago's Minnie Minoso took over second place with .325, while Ted Williams, of Boston, was third with .324. George Kell, Detroit third sacker who was second last week, fell to fourth place when his average dipped from .322 to .316.

Gus Zernial, of Philadelphia, hit no homers during the week but held the league lead with 32, and also held his runs-batted-in lead with 127, an addition of but three during the week.

Minoso moved into a tie with DiMaggio, of Boston, for the most runs, 111. DiMaggio also had the most hits, 187. Six men shared the doubles lead with 34 each. They were DiMaggio and Billy Goodman, Boston; Kell, Detroit; Sam Mele and Eddie Yost, Washington, and Minoso.

Minoso was the leader in triples, with 14, and stolen bases with 31.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED SINCE THEN—Sam Belsinger (left), Georgia Tech quarterback in 1900, tells Al Browning (center) and Hugh Gibson that in those days a quarterback couldn't weigh over 119 pounds because other players threw him over the line to gain yardage. Browning of Decatur and Gibson of Smith were honored as back and lineman of the week in Georgia, respectively, at the Atlanta Touchdown Club's first 1951 meeting Monday.

Back Sacked for Chicken Lifting, What's Football Coming To?

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 24—(AP)—University of Arizona today suspended its first string fullback, Arnold Burwitz, 21, Oak Park, Ill., from school.

The action followed an investigation of a report that football players had attempted to steal chickens from the university poultry farm.

Louis Slonaker, dean of men, said he would recommend that Burwitz be expelled.

Slonaker said he also would recommend that three other first-string gridsters, Bob Natock, of Phoenix; Jim Donarski, of Green Bay, Wis., and John Tonz, of Milwaukee, be placed on permanent disciplinary probation. They will be able to continue playing football.

Burwitz suffered superficial leg wounds early Sunday when a deputy sheriff fired a bullet into the pavement after stopping him near the chicken pens. Burwitz was hit by pieces of cement.

Saddler 2-1 Choice Over Challenger Pep

Condensed From Wire Reports

Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler remained a 2-to-1 favorite to whip challenger Willie Pep as the two boxers wound up their training programs Monday afternoon.

Saddler has been the winner in two out of their three previous meetings. The champ closed out his training with a four-round session at his Summit, N. J., camp, while Pep, a former holder of the title, closed shop at his Hartford, Conn., home.

Big Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles, and Little Pancho Segura of Ecuador, breezed past first-round opposition in the International pro tournament Monday at London's Wembley Stadium. Gonzales blasted W. J. Moos of Britain, 6-0, 6-2, while Segura ousted J. DeMos, of Holland, 6-1, 6-4.

Greentree Stable's Guillotine outfooted a classy field of 18 speedsters to capture the $20,000 Highweight Handicap as the autumn meeting opened at Belmont Park, N. Y., before a crowd of 22,950. Squared Away was second by a nose, while third went to Ferd.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League announced Monday that the NFL's 1951 Championship game would be televised. Miller Brewing Company of Milwaukee bought the TV rights.

Appointment of Walter Byers, National Collegiate Athletic Association and Big Ten administrative aide for the past four years, to fill the newly created job of executive director of the NCAA was announced Monday.

Texas Player's Neck Broken On First Play

AUSTIN, Sept. 25—(AP)—X rays Monday showed Texas Longhorn Pete Gardere has a broken neck suffered in his first play of collegiate football.

The sophomore halfback, counted on heavily as a reserve on the defense, was hurt in the third quarter of the Kentucky game here Saturday.

Gardere, who came to the University of Texas from Hillcrest High in Dallas, is definitely out for the season.

Dr. Ben Primer, Jr., team physician said his neck was put in traction, and that it will have to remain in a cast for at least three months.

Bauer Stars In Auburn Workout

Special to The Constitution

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 24—Auburn's geared-up Tigers had a long workout Monday readying for the Vanderbilt opener here Saturday, and Capt. Ed "Foots" Bauer had coaches beaming over his striking defensive play.

Line Coach Shot Senn enthused that Bauer will be one of the SEC's top guards. Bauer is faster, Smarter, and will be twice as dangerous as a double-duty man," Senn said. "During the last week he has demonstrated he's ready to make a stout bid for conference honors."

Sophomore Charles Littles again sparked as the running gem of the day. Put into action with the second run down of Auburn backs, the Andalusia, Alabama prep All-America broke loose for two long runs and was a constant threat.

Three recent cripples returned to the fold and got in some of the head knocking. They were defensive halfback Percy Alford, Griffin's Jack Langford, and fullback Phil Gonzales of Mobile.

A slight sprain put ace quarterback Allan Parks on the shelf for the afternoon after he put on an aerial show.

Gardner Speaks to TD Clubbers

George Gardner, secretary of the Southeastern Conference Football Officials Association, was main speaker Monday as the Atlanta Touchdown Club launched its 1951 season.

Gardner discussed rules changes, dwelling particularly upon the new fair-catch rule. The rule now requires that a punt receiver must raise his hand and wave it back and forth for a fair catch, rather than just raising it as was the case in old fair-catch days.

Members also heard reports on leading SEC and Southern Conference football games.

Hugh Gibson, Smith High guard, and Al Browning, Decatur halfback, received Lineman and Back of the Week Certificates.

Westrum, moved Williams to second with an effective sacrifice bunt. Ray Noble popped out as a pinch hitter for the second out.

Stankey then singled off the glove of Third Baseman Sibby Sisti, who just moved over from shortstop in the eighth, and Williams scooted home with the winning run.

Only 6,059 turned out for the Giants final home game to see Sheldon Jones duel with the Braves' 20-year-old southpaw in the early innings. Dave Koslo, who came in when the Braves knocked out Jones in the sixth, won his 10th game. It was Nichols' ninth loss.

Cats' Coach Frets Over Rebs' Split-T

Condensed From Wire Reports

Coach Paul Bryant, coach of Kentucky's Wildcats, losers to University of Texas, 7-6, last Saturday in Austin, Texas, said Monday he feared this weekend's game with Ole Miss at Oxford, Miss., even more.

"We made a lot of mistakes in the Texas game," Bryant said, "but we can't make them again this weekend. Texas was new at that split-T formation, but Mississippi has had it for four years now, and in Rocky Byrd they have the best split-T quarterback in the business."

Wildcat first liners were excused from practice Monday, but the reserves caught a lengthy scrimmage.

Down at Oxford, Mississippi's footballers worked in the rain on pass offense and defense. Halfbacks Wilson Dillard, Harold Lofton, Lea Paslay and Lindy Callahan did most of the tossing.

Left half Jim Roshto, who suffered a bruised shoulder in the Mississippi Southern game, fullback Jimmy West, with a leg injury, were on the sidelines as LSU Tigers worked for their Saturday skirmish with Alabama at Mobile.

End Jug Jenkins returned to uniform Monday as Coach Red Drew put Alabama's defensive squad through a long drill in the rain at Tuscaloosa. Offensive players engaged in a dummy scrimmage.

Roy Bailey, right-halfback who was hurt in a "B" team game against Georgia Tech's Bees Saturday at Mobile, Ala., and Tackle Joe Jongebloed were missing from Tulane's Monday workout. The latter has been called into the Navy. The Greenies meet Miami Saturday.

Miami's offense got a shot in the arm Monday when it was learned that Mike Vacchio, senior right halfback, had been deferred by his draft board to finish his education. The squad worked on passing most of the afternoon.

Scout Emmett Lowery, who watched Mississippi State rout Arkansas State Saturday, 32-0, told Tennessee's gridders; "We're in for one whale of an afternoon Saturday." Lowery was particularly impressed with defensive strength of the Staters' opponents of the Vols in their opener.

Coach Slick Morton's Mississippi State Maroons came through Saturday's opener without injury and will be at full force for the Tennessee brawl. Coach Morton praised the work of defensive end John Santillo and offensive backs Wally Beach and Bill Stewart.

Nothing is as good as STA-DRI for stopping water and beautifying masonry. STA-DRI is the inorganic mineral coating for all masonry, that stays white when wet, is not subject to weather-wear, organic deterioration, disintegration, rubbing off or flaking and is stone-like in resisting erosion.
Newcomers to the masonry waterproofing field say "new", "never before" and make claims that STA-DRI has exceeded for years with hundreds of thousands of satisfied users to prove it. Only STA-DRI dares to advertise and support the claim that IT WILL HOLD A WALL OF WATER NINE FEET HIGH WITHOUT LEAKAGE. Containing a mold and mildew inhibitor, STA-DRI comes in white and a variety of colors at no extra cost. Don't be satisfied with "second-raters" or take something that's "just as good". Demand the package that says "Best by Test". Demand STA-DRI.

Transfer of Unit Suits Sought by Defendants

• Reiterate Constitutionality Of Law Not Questioned

The State Law Department Monday asked the State Supreme Court to transfer the county unit damage suits to the Georgia Court of Appeals—contending constitutionality of the unit system law was not challenged.

Since damages, and not a constitutional question, are involved, the issue should be heard by the Court of Appeals instead of the Supreme Court, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook and other defense attorneys for State Democratic Party leaders said.

The move was made for State Democratic Chairman James Peters and Former Secretary Iris Blitch as defense attorneys answered briefs submitted to the Supreme Court by attorneys for Ed Methvin, of Dodge County, and W. M. Cox, of Cherokee County. Methvin and Cox each are asking $100,100 from the party leaders for damages they say they suffered through operation of the County Unit System in the 1950 Democratic Primary.

Eugene Cook

Attorneys for party officials declared that Methvin and Cox had not challenged the constitutionality of the Neill Primary Act, but had simply asked for damages on the contention that they had been deprived of certain constitutional rights. The Supreme Court doesn't have jurisdiction of cases in which constitutional issues are not raised, the attorneys argued.

NO CIVIL RIGHTS LAWS

The party leaders declared that Georgia has no civil rights laws to implement the constitutional guarantees the defendants allege they have. Therefore, in Georgia, there is no right of action for "mental and abstract damages," they asserted.

The plaintiffs allege no damage to person or property, the brief said. The damage they do allege can only be abstract since it consists only of their failure to achieve a purpose to secure the nomination of a candidate for office, which purpose was contrary to the desire not only of a majority of the voters of their respective counties, but of a plurality of the voters in the entire state.

Peters and Mrs. Blitch said that the State Constitution does not guarantee a Georgian the right to vote in a Democratic primary.

"The Constitution refers to general elections, not to primaries, and it cannot be changed by the loose allegation that in Georgia nomination is equivalent to election," they asserted. "There is no requirement that the Democratic Party have an election at all. It necessarily follows that the right to vote in a primary does not arise under the Constitution."

LEGISLATIVE POWER

The defendants said the Legislature has the right to enact laws governing the primary. This is a political power, and should not be set aside by the judicial branch of the government, they said. If the courts should rule the County Unit System unconstitutional, the courts then would have to enter the political field of outlining what kind of primaries would be right in Georgia, the defendants said.

Peters and Mrs. Blitch also said that Methvin and Cox had failed to allege any cause for damage suits.

"The wrong complained of under state law, if it is a wrong at all, is a public wrong, not a private wrong," said Peters and Mrs. Blitch, "and the plaintiff cannot recover in the absence of some allegation of special damage to him in which the public has not participated. It seems perfectly clear in this case that the plaintiffs have suffered no damage different from that suffered by the public generally, if damage has been suffered by anyone."

They contended that Methvin and Cox had not been damaged, anyway, because they had voted in the 1950 primary, knowing the rules at the time they cast their votes.

The brief was signed by Depulty Assistant Atty. Gen. M. H. Blackshear, Jr., B. D. Murphy, M. F. Goldstein, Edward E. Dorsey, C. C. Thompson, H. B. Black, Jr., and Atty. Gen. Cook.

Accused of Assault On Paper Worker

Edward A. Parris, described as a striking worker at the National Paper Co., Monday was cited in Fulton Civil Court for allegedly clubbing a paper company worker over the head.

J. Webb Childers of 802 Ashland Ave., N. E., swore out the warrant, charging that Parris struck him as he walked across Marietta St. in front of the paper mill after alighting from a trolley.

Childers posted $300 bond after being hailed into Civil Court.

Talmadge Favors Reasonable Professional Tests

Gov. Talmadge entered the dispute between Tech and Georgia students and his own state examining boards Monday—on the side of the students.

Tech had protested against all 17 of its students flunking the state architects' examination. Georgia's Veterinary School had protested that the veterinary examination was so "tricky" that it was driving students into other states to practice.

Asked for a comment, the Governor said:

"I approve high standards for all professions, including architecture and veterinary medicine. However, the standards should not be so high as to drive graduates from our state. A reasonable examination should be given by all professional boards. It is expected that at least some students can pass a reasonable examination."

Dr. G. Rayburn Bartlett, of East Point, was sworn into office by Talmadge Monday as a member of the State Board of Examiners of Veterinarians. He succeeds Dr. T. B. Clower, state veterinarian, who resigned as a member of the examing board recently after temporarily filling a vacancy.

The Architects Examining Board will hold a hearing Oct. 2 on the Tech protest.

Curley Awaits 9th Mayoralty Attempt Today

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

BOSTON, Sept. 24—James M. Curley, whose political power has waxed and waned for 50 years, will attempt another comeback Tuesday in his ninth bid for the Boston mayoralty.

Tuesday's test is a preliminary election, under the terms of a new city charter, to narrow the field for the main election Nov. 6. Curley, who will be 77 years old Nov. 24, is one of four candidates in the mayoralty contest. The top two will qualify according to the number of votes received.

Curley will be opposed by two former political associates, Mayor John B. Hynes, who defeated him by 12,000 votes two years ago, and former police commissioner Joseph P. Timility, who handled his campaign in 1949. The fourth candidate is Thomas O'Brien, who is expected to finish in that position.

Interest in the preliminary election is expected to attract about 200,000 voters, or approximately half of those registered. In effect, the election is nonpartisan, but a majority of those running, and all four mayoral candidates, are Democrats.

Hynes, who was given Republican support two years ago, and Curley are generally expected to finish at the top. Hynes, who started as a clerk in the health department more than 20 years ago, was permanent city clerk when he decided to run for Mayor in 1949.

Curley was elected mayor in 1913, 1921, 1929 and 1945. He lost in 1917, 1937, 1941 and 1949. He also has served five terms in the United States House of Representatives and one term as governor.

Russian Plan To Irrigate Desert Is Told

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW, Sept. 24—(AP)—A Soviet scientist reported Monday that plans are now being drawn for a huge hydroelectric-irrigation project in Siberia to make a Garden of Eden out of central Asiatic deserts.

Academician A. V. Vinter, writing in the publication Science and Life, said completion of the big Stalingrad and Kuibyshev dams and the Turkmen canal during the next five or six years will set the stage for the still greater power and irrigation undertaking.

Vinter made other predictions of triumphs for Soviet science. He declared that atomic energy, "the secret production of which was discovered by Soviet scientists," will mean a revolution in energetics (the science dealing with energy).

The hydroelectric-irrigation program calls for turning the flow of three Siberian rivers—the Ob, the Yenisei, and the Lena—from northward to southward. A vast lake would be created in central Siberia nearly as large as the Caspian Sea.

HOW-TO-GET-AHEAD PLAN

7 Personality Rules Listed for Dentists

A "pleasing personality" is just as necessary for a dentist's success as technical know-how, according to a practicing dentist and educator who prescribed a seven-point, how-to-get-ahead program here Monday night.

Dr. Cecil H. Bliss of Sioux City, Iowa, who addressed the Georgia Dental Association at the Ansley Hotel, declared:

Dr. Bliss

"A pleasing personality is not inherited. It's asquired. If you don't develop it, how are you going to get patients in your dental chairs?"

Dr. Bliss listed seven rules which, he said, would benefit not only dentists but anyone who deals with people.

His "personality" suggestions are:

1. Cultivate the habit of being agreeable.
2. Be modest.
3. Avoid arguments.
4. Be tactful.
5. Be a good listener.
6. Remember names and faces.
7. Be honestly interested in people.

Dr. Bliss deplored the fact that none of these things is taught students in dental schools. He said a course in dentist-patient relations should be a "must" in every school of dentistry.

Members of the Dental Hygienists' Society of Georgia and the Georgia Dental Assistants' Association, who are meeting at the same time as the dentists, also heard the address by Dr. Bliss.

Dr. J. Roy Bourgoyne of Loyola University School of Dentistry, New Orleans, La., reported pentothal, sometimes known as the "truth drug," was becoming increasingly popular as an anesthetic for use in dental surgery.

Dr. Bourgoyne

He said patients need not fear they will reveal any secrets because dentists always give enough pentothal to make the paient "unconscious and unable to talk."

Dr. Bourgoyne said pentothal, usually used in combination with other anesthetics, eliminated "disturbing masks," irritating respiratory sensations, disturbing reactions by patients and nausea. He said patients liked it so well they "always want to come back for more."

Dr. Francis J. Garvey of Chicago, Ill., secretary of the council on legislation for the American Dental Association, recommended the establishment of grievance committees by dental organizations to serve as investigative agencies in cases where gross malpractice is charged. He said he did not think the committees should handle complaints of excessive fees.

In the president's address, Dr. J. Ross Tucker of Atlanta reported the Georgia association in the past year had been "on a sound financial basis and excellent membership status."

ELECTION TODAY

The Dental Hygienists' Society, headed by Mrs. Bootsie Craig, and the Dental Assistants' Association, headed by Miss Ruth Kennedy, will elect new officers Tuesday.

New Dental Association officers were nominated in a business session Monday night. Dr. Frampton W. Farmer of Macon was nominated president; Dr. Irwin T. Hyatt of Atlanta, president-elect; Dr. Harvey Payne of Atlanta, vice president, and Dr. J. M. Heard, Jr., of Macon, secretary-treasurer. None of them are opposed.

About 70 dental assistants are attending the convention. Speakers at their meeting Monday included Dr. Robert M. Hughes of Atlanta, clinical psychologist, who told them they could use psychology in dealing with "babies in long pants"—or "patients who haven't grown up."

Dr. Hughes said the easiest way for the dentist or dental assistant to work on the teeth of a grown-up baby was to "give him or her what he wants . . . a lot of attention and mothering and a feeling of security."

Dental hygienists and dental assistants will conclude their meetings Tuesday, but the Georgia Association will continue its convention through Wednesday.

Foster Installed AsDefenseDeputy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—William C. Foster Monday became Deputy Secretary of Defense. He was sworn in at a brief ceremony in the office of Defense Secretary Lovett.

Fostor was appointed to the defense post after serving as Marshall Plan Administrator.

During World War II he was director of purchases for the Army Service Forces and in 1946 was Undersecretary of Commerce.

In civilian life, Foster is president of the Pressed and Welded Steel Products Co. of Long Island, N. Y. He is a resident of Scarsdale, N. Y.

B'nai B'rith Praised for AimsAchieved

The executive vice chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith Monday night lauded that organization for the advances it has made against "discriminatory practices in education and in economics."

Richard E. Gudstadt told those attending the Fall meeting of the Atlanta B'nai B'rith, "I wish to stress the advances made with the leaders of American education in recognizing the inequity of the 'quota system.'

"The recognition by some of the outstanding academicians of the negation of Democracy implicit in the denial of higher education for any other reasons than lack of academic qualification has been most gratifying during the past year," he said.

Of economics Gudstadt said, "There has come a wider recognition of the economic loss involved to the nation through the pursuance of a policy of employment discrimination."

Earlier five Atlantans were elected to the Southern Regional Board of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith during the weekend at its fourth annual meeting in Atlanta. They are Dr. Irving Greenberg, Ben Massell, Philip Shulhafer, Abe Goldstein and Alexander F. Miller, executive secretary.

William P. Bloom, Tuscaloosa, Ala., was named chairman of the board.

He pledged the co-operation of the league with other Southern organizations to "resolve the crucial problems facing us in a manner which will reflect credit on our democratic way of life and strike a blow for freedom everywhere in the world."

The board established an award for achievement in human relations which will be conferred upon an outstanding Southerner annually. They lauded the retiring chairman, Judge Emanuel Lewis of Savannah, for his efforts "on behalf of democracy" during his term.

Lakewood Group Plans Canvass For Blood

The lay committee of the Lakewood Health Center will meet Oct. 2 to plan a canvass for blood donations.

Working with the Red Cross Atlanta chapter, the group will attempt to secure 250 pints of blood.

Clement, university president, announced Monday. Dr. Wahl, a Canadian Army veteran, formerly taught at Yale and Rutgers Universities.

VICTORIA, B. C.—(AP)—Mrs. Josephine Cassidy, an energetic woman of 86, recalls that she made a fortune in the Yukon gold rush days—by taking in washing.

In 1897 she was a dark-haired beauty with flashing eyes and a strong arm. It had to be strong because she did so much washing. She earned from $50 to $150 a day.

"I used to mush my dog team eight or 10 miles up the trail from Dawson t othe R. C. M. P. station. Oh, those trousers with the yellow stripes—I washed so many of them I can't count. I never see those yellow striped pants that I don't want to rush up and shake the hand of the man who owns them."

She and her husband had bought equipment to join the gold rush. A series of misfortunes dogged them, culminating in the loss of all the expensive equipment.

One day someone asked her if she could wash. "And that is how I started my business," she said.

"I did very well, for when I left the Yukon I came out with a stake of $100,000."

THAT LITTLE KNIT HAT . . . A comparatively small item in a lady's Fall and Winter wardrobe that has become an indispensible accessory. She wears her crocheted or knit hat any and everywhere . . . either makes it herself or buys it at her favorite hat bar. It can be a sturdy helmet, a floppy-brimmed party hat, or a snug little head-hugger sparkled with jewels. One of its many advantages is its packability, there's just no such thing as a crushed knit hat. Left to right, Joan Allen is campus bound in a favorite college ear-toaster, in two shades of brown wool. Next, the invaluable little cocktail hat in black shot with gold, and crushed with pearls . . . the original crown jewel. Next, Anne H. Kenney wears white wool trimmed in fringe and small wooden beads . . . good for a town and luncheon date. Last, a wonderful little knit, touched with silver, which leads a double life . . . is just as good in daytime as with your basic black for the concert. These hats range in price from $6 to $13. Forty Plus? Movie Stars Still Young

By IDA JEAN KAIN

It's always fun to write about the ages of movie stars because close-ups of the all-time favorites prove that 40-plus is still beautifully young.

In a recent magazine poll of the 10 top ranking favorites, all but one is past 40, and four are past 50. The list includes Bette Davis, Irene Dunne, Greer Garson, Gloria Swanson and June Allyson, June is the only one under 40. Gloria is past 50, and going stronger than ever. The line-up of the men favorites includes Clark Gable, Bing Crosby, Jimmy Stewart, Spencer Tracy and Gary Cooper . . . all past-40, three of them past 50.

Other favorites in the over 40 stars are Claudette Colbert, Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Crawford, Marlene Dietrich, Greta Garbo, Madeline Carroll, Jeanette MacDonald, Jean Arthur, Ann Southern, Katherine Hepburn and Joan Bennett. Garbo, recently chosen as the most beautiful woman in the world, is in her middle forties.

Well, we all have birthdays at the same rate, so what is their secret? It's a combination of keeping their figures and keeping young mentally.

Dietrich, who is grandmother, has more of that elusive quality termed glamour than any actress I have interviewed. She believes glamour bgins with prsonal authority . . . it means not appearing to be an amateur in the art of living. She is never garrulous and always poised. She defies time by ignoring it.

Gloria Swanson's secret is her terrific zest for living. She thinks today is wonderful and is excited about what's ahead for tomorrow. That philosophy appears to pay off; she's earning a half million this year! Miss Swanson definitely thinks young. And she is convinced that good nutrition is all important to vitality, the physical quality most essential to keeping young.

Claudette Colbert's formula is her hobbies . . . she loves painting and has developed a real talent for this art. Crawford's secret is self-discipline, in diet, exercise and mental gymnastics too.

Of course not one of these glamorous women has a middle-age figure . . . they wouldn't let the middle spread overtake them for a million dollars. Nor would they settle for stooped posture or old movements.

They all lead busy, active lives, and appear to thrive on hard work. At a luncheon not long ago, I had a chance to compare two who continued their careers with two former screen stars who had not. They were all in the same age group, but the working girls looked years younger.

Bill Holden Signs Long Contract at Paramount

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Bill Holden gets a 14-year contract at Paramount. I didn't think such a deal existed since Humphrey Bogart signed his famous 15-year deal at Warners.

Yet, I am told that Bill has put his name to a 14-year contract with Paramount which gives him limited rights to outside pictures—which means he can make a picture when Paramount doesn't need him.

Bill's first two pictures under his new deal are "A Likely Story" and "This Is Dynamite." In "Dynamite" he'll play a newspaperman, and I am glad to say it will show him as a reporter of integrity and brains. "Ace in the Hole," while technically a good picture, left a bad taste in the mouth of all newspaper people who hate to see one of their fraternity made such a first-class heel.

Wait until Jack Benny hears that Dennis Day plays a tight-fisted, penny-pinching agent in "The Girl Next Door" with Dan Dailey at 20th! Dennis is always the naive kid on Jack's program and Benny is the nickel nurser.

Of course, even though Dennis plays a comedy role in the movie, he'll also sing. They aren't crazy people at 20th—and a day without a song would be a nightmare, if you'll pardon the punning. Already announced for this picture besides Dan are June Haver and Gloria de Haven. If your memory is good, you'll recall that this is the musical Betty Grable turned down and which brought on her suspension.

After two years absence I am glad Kent Smith is coming back to Hollywood to make a picture.

He has signed at Columbia to co-star with Loretta Young in "The Mother." The latest picture Kent made was "The Damned Don't Cry" at Warners.

Buddy Alder, the producer, who "contacted" him, says that Kent and Loretta will play husband and wife who adopt a crippled child—crippled through an accident for which the wife is responsible. There is great conflict when the child learns the truth.

Rudy Nate, who is directing it, has already made the test of Smith.

The main reason Alan Ladd wanted out of his paramount contract was because he thought he wasn't getting the important pictures. Well, all I can say is that Para is sure trying to make up for it on the home stretch and sending Alan along in a blaze of three top pictures.

Could it be that Paramount is anxious to keep their box office boy if only for one picture a year even though Alan goes to Warners in 1952?

His last picture for the home team will be a remake of "The Parson of Panamint," Peter B. Kyne's adventure novel. He'll do this right after "Botany Bay." At this writing Alan is finishing "Shane" with Jean Arthur.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Oh, Dear! Mickey Rooney is in love again! This time it's Sandra Ward, New York model whom he met in New York. He's called her every day while making a personal appearance tour in Canada.

Mario Lanza is back in town. He found gifts, telegrams and letters from fans, telling him they still love him even though he's put on poundage and is difficult to handle. Well, maybe he's reformed.

Cy Howard is off for Europe ostensibly to talk to a British actress about his play, but I'll bet he'll meet Paulette Goddard, who is still there.

Meanwhile, Kirk Douglas, who was the love of Irene McEvoy's life, is paying all his attention to Elizabeth Threat, part Cherokee actress, who is in "The Big Sky" with him.

It's a new Gary Cooper these days. He's coming out of his shell and is no longer the shy type. Gary and Phil Harris really killed the people on the Warner lot singing "Look Out Stranger, I'm A Texas Rancher," especially written for them by Rudy Raskin.

The bride-elect was graduated from Randolph-Macon where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Strong Teeth Show Direct Relationship To Balanced Diet

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD

Laboratory experiments and human surveys which indicate a strong relationship between the composition of the diet consumed during tooth development and the susceptibility to tooth decay have been reported in the current issue of Nutrition Reviews. Studies on female rats and studies mad eamong public school children in war-torn countries whose diets from necessity were not adequate seem to confirm again the importance of balanced diets. All the evidence strongly points toward beneficial aspects of well-balanced diets in terms of presently recognized standards for known nutritional essentials. First among these for all children is one quart of milk a day plus generous amounts of the mineral and vitamin-rich fruits and vegetables.

DEVOTEES OF FANNIE FARMER will be interested to know the eighth revised edition of the world famous Boston Cooking-School Cook-Book is just off the press. Thousands and thousands of good cooks have been guided by the laws of this book since it was first written in 1896 by a far-sighted woman whose aim was not only to help folks to cook "but to awaken an interest in the scientific knowledge that will lead to deeper thought and broader study of what to eat." This new edition contains many color illustrations as well as over 150 black and white sketches to illustrate points which might not be clear by words alone.

FANNIE FARMER'S NAME brings to mind the first cake I learned to bake in a high school home ec class. Our teacher taught from this cookbook and as a result we learned to prepare very good dishes. So anxious was I to show the family how perfectly I could bake that I made a Spanish cake every Saturday for two months. Naturally everyone became tired of it and after some blunt words from all eight in the family, it was years before I ever made another one. In all my years of cooking I do not remember a recipe quite like this for it is a most delicately flavored cinnamon cake. I usually put it together with seven minute icing but you won't go wrong with caramel frosting. This recipe is still in the new revised 1951 cookbook.

SPANISH CAKE

½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
½ cup milk
2 egg whites

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and cinnamon. Cream butter; add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Add egg yolks. Stir in ½ flour mixture then ¼ cup milk; mix well. Add ½ cup flour mixture, then rest of milk and flour. Beat just enough to blend well. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, and fold into batter. Pour into two greased 8-inch layer pans. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, about 25 to 30 minutes. Note: This cake is best made by hand and by all means cream that butter and sugar very, very thoroughly.

Psychologist Urges Chain Letters for Close Family Ties

Families who fear once the children grow up and leave home they will become strangers to each other should use the chain-letter system for keeping in touch, advises John A. Blake, psychologist at the College of William and Mary.

Life for most people today is too hectic for each person to sit down at regular intervals and write to every other member of the family, says Blake. But a family chain-letter keeps everyone informed of what's going on with very little expenditure of time and effort.

Here's how the "round robin" type of letter functions: Mother starts a letter on its way to the oldest child, A. Then, after digesting its contents, A adds his message and sends the letter onto B. B does the same, sending it on to C, and so on, until the letter has been forwarded to each child. The last child returns letter, plus all the messages, back to Mother. Mother then removes her original letter, writes a new one and starts the letter around the circuit a second time. Each member repeats the procedure, removing his old letter and writing another. Of course, if one member has some special message for another, he merely writes directly.

This simple method keeps members of the family mentally and emotionally associated through the years, though they may be separated by great distances.

The Day of Darkness

Just about the time you begin to despair of the human race you bump head-on into examples of real nobility. The day it rained we didn't like anybody much. We were reflecting the sky in grayness and feeling generally like a frustrated storm cloud—just lacking the final effort it would take to thunder and lightning and weep copious tears.

And then our friend, Loretta, popped in out of a shower. Loretta always looked cheerful and you could discount that, saying that her face just happens to be put together along pleasant lines. But beyond that cheerful facade you know is a real conviction that life is good and trouble, when it comes to her, has a meaning.

Loretta has seen her share of troubles. Not just economic ones because somehow you get the impression that she is on to the weaknesses of money and cares very little about what it can buy.

Three years ago her husband lost his eyesight and the family's entire way of living changed. For the better, they will tell you and cite many things to prove it. To have the father of a big family stricken with blindness would be a catastrophe for most of it but not to Loretta and her folks. They bought a farm and moved out of town and quickly, as his eyesight diminished, Ned learned his way around the place, picked up the art of tilling the soil and raising chickens in complete and final darkness. Nobody ever heard him complain and if he was saddened by his loss he never mentioned it. Exploring his new world was, from all accounts, an exciting adventure. He learned braille. He was pleased to report that his hearing quickened.

We knew they had accepted Ned's blindness and were outwardly cheerful. But we were unprepared to hear them joke about it. That rainy day over a cup of coffee Loretta did joke about it.

"You know Ned doesn't look blind at all," Loretta said happily. "We're glad about that and sometimes the darnest things happen because of it.

"The other day a friend of ours dropped by to see us and brought along somebody we didn't know. We were pleased to have company and Ned had a good time showing the visitors all over the place. Later we were getting together a round robin to send one of the children at camp. Just for fun, Ned wrote his in braille.

"The visitor was amused. He said, 'Now why on earth would a father write his child a letter in braille?' Ned said, 'Because that's the easiest way for a blind man to write, of course'."

She chuckled. "You should have seen that man's face! He didn't know that Ned was blind."

She was silent a moment and then she added in a tone that still held surprise: "But you know, I believe it made him a little uncomfortable to find it out."

We could well believe it. Those of us with eyes to see storm clouds are bound to be uneasy when we find the sun is always shining in a blind man's heart.

Noise Imperils Health

Research on noise indicates that unpleasant sounds may seriously damage the hearing mechanism; influence the breathing rate and blood pressure; upset digestive functions; cause fatigue and nervous reactions. Modern architects now consider the noise factor when planning new buildings.

Spot for Television Set-- Here is Something New

By MARGARET WEIL

NEW YORK—(INS)—Television fans looking for the right spot to place their set might take a unique tip from building designer Richard Pritchard.

He suggests having the set installed in the wall so that only the tube face is exposed. Frame the face with a regular picture frame. A landscape or other scene can cover the face when the set is not in use. Then it can be removed when the TV switch is turned on.

The designer says the best spot for such an installation is a wall backed by a closet where the TV chassis can be mounted. However, if such a wall is not available, the unit can be mounted on any inside wall and the chassis enclosed on the opposite side of the wall into an attractive wall case of some type—a whatnot shelf, a plate rack, etc.

Advantage is hiding the chassis plus the availability of the complete wall area that might otherwise be taken up by a console. Home owners have that much-needed room for placing furnishings without interfering with the TV set itself.

Training Tips for Dog Owners

Dogs are often blamed and punished for bad behavior that is actually the owner's fault, for an undisciplined dog reflects the owner's laziness or ignorance.

Training a dog takes time and patience, but the results are well worth the effort, according to the famous veterinarian Leon Whitney. He points out that while dogs are not born with an understanding of words, they can be taught to respond to from 200 to 400 words.

To the dog, words are merely sounds. When he recognizes the sound's meaning and responds, he should be given a tiny reward. Dogs also can be taught to respond to gestures. You can teach a dog to look when you snap your fingers and then go where you point.

All training is a matter of habit formation. Firmness, Whitney says, is the greatest mercy. There are times, he adds, when physical punishment is necessary. However, a scolding usually is enough for ordinary misdemeanors. For positive commands, he advises, use the best ally you have: hunger. Some professional trainers underfeed a dog for two days and give tiny rewards of food.

In establishing training habits, says this expert, "reward the dog for good behavior and punish him for bad. But don't punish the dog for failing to heed commands until he has learned to do the right thing correctly 75 percent of the time."

Russian Women Take to Kitchen

LONDON, (INS) — Soviet women are becoming kitchen-conscious in the Western manner.

Moscow radio reported that dozens of firms are now producing household gadgets to make the housewife's work easier.

Scores of the latest devices are at present being shown at an exhibition in the All-Union Chamber of Trade in Moscow.

The Moscow Radio broadcast, heard in London, said women are showing special interest in a household electric refrigerator with a cooling chamber of 16½ gallons capacity which is "simple in operation, makes small quantities of ice cubes and uses no more electric current than a 100-watt bulb."

One washing machine snown was claimed to wash, rinse and dry washing in 30 minutes without it being touched by hand. The cost in electricity was said to be less than two cents.

Budget Should Determine Suit

By JEAN ROONEY

Take inventory before you buy.

This is the advice of visiting fashion designer Brigance to Atlanta shoppers.

Noted for handsome, not-too-extreme coats and suits, the animated young designer continues with these words of wisdom:

"Check your budget before you start. Think of what you own. Adjust the new to the old."

Narrow down your selection according to your activities, he suggests. Decide whether you're the "town and country," the "strictly city" or "dress" coat type.

If your wardrobe is fantasy heavy, consider some good staple pieces. Don't fret if you have to throw out a few garments.

"That's a sign you're reaching fashion maturity," he believes.

The days of the American woman feeling "inhibited, terrified, frustrated" about what to buy are past, according to this expert.

"Now the French learn from us," he sums it up.

What new to look for in Fall suits and coats?

"The coif" surface in fabrics. Like poodle cloth, the brushed, piled look, "third dimensional."

"Look for fabrics with little white curly hairs woven in," he says.

Grey is still tops in fashion, with oxford brown an "American classic" this season. "So easy to accessorize," he reminds.

Brigance "adores" red and bright green on American women.

"There's no color type who can't wear true colors."

And look for the "fitted look" in coats to accent the hips and bust.

Blue Sapphire Is September's Stone

The sapphire, September's birthstone, is autumn's gem. Its blue color is the tempered brilliance of an autumn sky.

Sapphires may be plain or starred, either being traditionally worn by the September born. The star in a sapphire, by the way, is an optical effect—formed by bands of light reflected as the stone is moved to or from a source of light. This effect remains when a star sapphire is cut into smaller pieces—if each piece is properly cut encabochon. Most sapphires are found in Burma, Australia, Siam, and Ceylon. Steel blue sapphires have been found in Montana.

Among Orientals, the gem was known as the stone of stones, for it was believed to prevent capture by enemies, and to win favor with princes. Its power against poison was felt to be so potent that a spider or a reptile placed in a glass with one would die. To its coldness was credited the power to extinguish fire.

In fact, the sapphire has always been considered a lucky gem. Many stories support this belief.

Economy Is Good

Several foundation garments are more economical than two or three. Actually a single garment worn daily with no time out for rest and proper laundering will not last long. Natural body oils and perspiration do not do your foundation garment any good.

What happened inside Washington before Korea?

. . . Here are the two-fisted answers!

America's first Secretary of Defense, the peppery James Forrestal, became, in his own words, "a victim of the Washington scene." But surviving his tragic death are these revealing personal diaries on today's most vital problems.

Don't miss this important story of one man's struggle:

- his fight for American security
- his fight for firmness in our foreign policy
- his fight to remove explosive projects (like Palestine) from the realm of party politics
- his fight for guns, food, men
- his reaction to attacks upon his personal reputation

MARY HAWORTH

Matron Troubled With Shyness at 23

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 23, married and have a small son. I have a problem of shyness that has bothered me since I was a child. I have honestly tried several times to do something about it; but so far haven't found the solution. Possibly others are bothered with the same problem; and they too might be helped by your discussion of it.

I have always been the quiet type, more or less. I tend to stay in the background more than I really should, because I have the tendency to blush easily, usually when I find myself the center of attention. In college I learned from a psychology course that the sympathetic nervous system tends to rush to our aid when we suddenly feel afraid; it speeds up our entire system and causes the blood to rush to the face. This is all very nice to know; but it doesn't seem to help me.

I talked to a psychologist about my problem, but she said I would have to go back to my past and learn just where the habit began. I haven't the money to spend for such treatment, as my husband is a student and I'm not in a position to be a wage earner. I have taken a speech course, hoping this might relieve my fear of speaking before a group, but I still have the same trouble.

I feel I would be a much happier person, and therefore a better wife and mother, if I could learn to feel more sure of myself with other people. Can you offer some helpful suggestions? Any good counsel will be appreciated.—K. N.

DEAR K. N.: Troublesome shyness is really a condition of fixed inordinate self-concern, keyed to unconscious anticipation of rejecting treatment from others. And blushing refers to a feeling of guilty alarmed defensiveness when under scrutiny, and is related to an unconscious sense of possibly, involuntarily, doing or saying "the wrong thing"—whatever that may be in the other person's view.

Both attitudes are ingrained by severely exacting, or generally critical, or unsympathetic overly supervisory handling in helpless formative years. Such harsh training afflicts the victimized personality with residual feelings of guilty inadequacy, emotional insecurity and nebulous anxiety. Also with vague latent hostility towards a society that seems to treat one callously, unfairly or cruelly, without provocation so far as one knows.

Given this indication of what to look for, as the basis of your nervous timidity, you probably won't have to delve very deeply into childhood memories to dredge up wounding incidents that made you increasingly fearful of people's judgments. Or, rather, mistrustful of your capacity to win favor or tolerance, in competition with rival aspirants for approval.

Of course it would take more than a few emotional slaps or snubs from random sources to shake your self-regard to the very foundations, as was done. Thus I assume: 1. Either you were subjected to persistent badgering in early life, involved in a pattern of psychological "beating down" that was too much for your sensitive temperament to take in stride. 2. Or else your mother, or the mothering person in your experience, had a pernicious inferiority complex that gradually fastened on you, too.

As a thorough-going guide to maturity, to sensible wifehood and helpful motherhood, I advise you to read Dr. Alexander Magoun's fine book, "Love and Marriage."—M. H.

New Class In Nurses' Aides To Start Soon

Volunteer nurses' aides are needed. A call comes out from Atlanta hospitals and civil defense officials for Atlanta women to volunteer to train in this field. They are needed to assist professional nurses in Atlanta hospitals and to work with sick and injured in case of emergency.

A new class to train nurses' aides starts Mon., Oct. 15 at St. Joseph Infirmary. Classes will meet from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Training includes class room lectures, demonstrations, films and supervised work in hospital wards.

Women between 18 and 50 years of age, in good health, who hold a high school diploma are eligible. They are asked to work at least 150 hours a year. To enroll, call Mrs. Nunnally Fuller, recruitment chairman, ATwood 1601.

General Tendencies — Please don't forget, folks, that this is no time for making new ventures, speedy decisions or unorthodox gestures. Stick to the conventions and follow all the old rules, no matter how unpleasant they may appear. You cannot win this week by taking matters into your own hands, whether you may be big or little in your line. After today you will find that social and romantic interests will pick up but maybe this evening may be too soon to show the welcome change. Any change noticed at this time would be the absence of jingling money from your pockets. Think twice before you talk.

If It's Your Birthday—Note the months of December and next May and plan your affairs so that you will not be placed in questionable or expensive moves just then. You are just entering a cycle which will last almost two years and will create some tension in your most vital interests. You can probably see the beginning of this condition within six weeks after your birthdate. We all go through these rough spots now and then, the chief thing being to so conduct ourselves as to avoid unnecessary difficulty. You may feel depressed here and there, but I can assure you that this is temporary.

CITY HALL NEWS

Virginia Ave. Bridge Closed; Held Hazard

By HERMAN HANCOCK

The ancient Virginia Ave. bridge over the Southern Railway Tuesday will be closed to vehicles as a traffic hazard, City Construction Chief Clarke Donaldson announced.

Donaldson's decision came as Southern Railway officials prepared to let a contract for construction of a new $83,000 structure to replace the 50-year-old bridge. The City and railroad officials have entered an agreement under which the railway will build the new facility, but it will be financed jointly by the City and the railroad.

W. R. Walker, bridge engineer, said traffic will be rerouted around the bridge via Kanuga St. and Boulevard, N. E.

Walker and Donaldson are convinced that traffic should no longer be permitted to use the old bridge and they also are concerned that the 23 tons of structural reinforcement steel needed for the project may be delayed further because of the necessity for obtaining priorities.

Battle Over Bottle

Two Negro employees of the City are without jobs as the result of a fight over an empty Coca-Cola bottle. Howard Monroe, City Hall superintendent, said he has dismissed Leon Arnold, who has five years' service, and Dr. James F. Hackney, City Health director, has ousted George Chapman, who has six years' seniority in his job. Both are janitorial employes. The fight developed after Arnold accused Chapman of taking a bottle which belonged to a vending machine. Chapman said the bottle belonged to a Health Department doctor. They grabbed bottles and knives to settle the issue.

City Buys Equipment

Council's Purchasing Committee Monday bought four mechanical street sweepers and seven-load packer garbage collection trucks in order to be ready to start serving the 82 additional square miles of area which will be added to Atlanta next January. The sweepers will cost $34,180 and the trucks will add another $54,661 to the bill. Payment will be made from the 1952 City budget, but delivery will be made in December under agreement.

Opposes Billboards

Ald. Dowse Donaldson, chairman of Council's Public Works Committee, has announced a public hearing on proposal to bar billboards within 300 feet of Atlanta's multimillion dollar expressway system. The proposed ordinance would prohibit billboards or other advertising signs, other than those listing lots for sale. The action is being urged as a safety measure and also to preserve the beauty of the expressways.

Meeting Postponed

A scheduled meeting of the Atlanta Board of Firemasters Monday night was postponed by Councilman William T. Knight, chairman, because only routine business was scheduled for consideration. The next regular session is set for 8 p. m. Oct. 29.

Blanchard Better

Councilman Wayne Blanchard, of the Sixth ward, is expected to return home Tuesday after several days at Georgia Baptist Hospital. He is recuperating from a stomach ailment.

Young Enough To Love... Completely...
"A PLACE IN THE SUN" is the story of today a drama of three young people uncontrollably in love—who risked everything to get that love! It is the story that mirrors all lovers—the story that belongs to everyone.
It is rare that any motion picture has captured so magnificently the fire and fever of America's youth. Even rarer, has any screen drama spoken so freely and frankly of the compelling needs and desires of young people, driven by instincts they can neither resist nor understand.
Here is the story of a young man who was too ambitious, even in love, and of the two girls who cared for him too much!
These three emotion-packed roles are portrayed by the most exciting young stars it has been possible to combine in one film in many years.
Here is a remarkably revealing picture—one you'll remember and love . . . completely.

Georgia Electric Power May Attract Aluminum

Government Proposes Industry Leave Drouth-Hit Northwest

By BILL BORING

The Government's proposal to move a vast portion of the defense vital aluminum industry out of the Northwest holds tremendous significance for the South.

For although the Government didn't name the area into which it would like to move the industry, it's a 10 to one bet the South is uppermost in the planning. Already a multi-million dollar Kaiser plant is going up in New Orleans.

The reason is that the South has what it takes to produce aluminum metal; namely, (1) electric power and (2) bauxite from which aluminum is fabricated.

This section's plentiful streams, which rise in the Blue Ridge mountain hills and the Piedmont plateau, emptying into the Atlantic and Gulf, have enough potential power to supply the nation's entire electricity demand, but, of course, they haven't as yet been harnessed to that extent.

ADEQUATE POWER

But they have been brought sufficiently under control to where they're furnishing what industry now views as an adequate amount of power. For example, the Southeast alone produces 25 percent of the nation's hydroelectric power and because of the abundance of electricity in this section the South is privileged to use 25 percent more electricity per capita than the rest of the nation and at a price 23 percent cheaper than what the rest of the nation pays.

It is an abundance of electric power combined with the even more promising outlook for it in the future that has caused industry after industry—chemical, paper, plastics, etc.—to turn South.

Now aluminum, which is a natural for the South, which already has attracted, by means of the normal commercial avenues, such big aluminum producing companies as Alcoa, Kaiser and Reynolds, is likely to turn in our direction in a mass movement.

BAUXITE AVAILABLE

For the South has, too, that additional vital necessity to aluminum production—bauxite. Bauxite produces alumina and from alumina is fabricated the aluminum metal. Arkansas alone produces 94 percent of the bauxite ore used by the aluminum companies of the North American continent.

So you can expect to see in the coming months more and more of the aluminum manufacturers locating in the South and perhaps some of the huge aluminum plants of the Northwest being transferred here intact.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has asked the major aluminum producers of the Northwest (the section produces 50 percent of the nation's aluminum) to tell him by Tuesday how much it would cost and how long it would take them to move some plants to other sections not plagued by electric power shortages.

A drought has cut sharply into hydroelectric production in the Northwest and power will be shut off to some aluminum plants in that section within two weeks. Wilson thinks the Northwest power shortage could cut off 30 percent of the aluminum produced in that area.

Sun Life Occupies New Office

The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada announced Monday it has completed moving its Atlanta Branch Office into its new building at 834 West Peachtree St., opposite the Biltmore Hotel.

The company opened its first office in Atlanta before 1900. Here, as in other cities, an official said, its offices until recently have been of the conventional type in the upper floors of downtown office buildings.

The official said the company now is following a trend towards street floor office locations outside the congested downtown areas because of "the considerable advertising value of an attractive office which is daily seen by the public and also because of greater convenience."

J. E. K. Kennedy, branch manager, said the new offices will permit improved and expanded service to the public. He said Atlanta is the headquarters of the company in Georgia and Alabama and added that the company does nearly $40,000,000 of business in the area.

Kennedy said at the end of 1950 the company had nearly $4,500,000,000 of business on its books

Cotton Futures Range Widely

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(AP)—Cotton futures moved over a wide range Monday in nervous trading.

The market started off firm on resumption of the broad covering movement which got underway Saturday of last week. However, after gains extended to $2.20 a bale, the market encountered increased hedging and profit-taking which brought recessions of as much as $2.50 a bale from the top levels of the day, before the market again developed rallying tendencies on trade buying and short covering. Urgent buying of nearby October futures, prior to first notice day on Tuesday, and the extensive holding movement among cotton farmers for better prices were the chief sustaining factors.

Washington trade advices said Germany plans to purchase 650,000 to 700,000 bales of cotton from the United States, representing about 70 per cent of its cotton requirements. Germany has already allocated some free dollars to keep imports moving until new ECA funds and Export-Import Bank credits become available.

The Census Bureau reported cotton ginnings from the 1951 crop prior to September 16 at 3,661,915 running bales, or 2,166,666 bales ahead of ginnings from the restricted 1950 crop for the same period a year ago.

Futures closed 85 cents a bale higher to 30 cents lower than the previous close.

Tightening Of Building Curbs Asked

Johnston Fears Ruinous Inflation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said Monday he will recommend the tightening of Federal building controls because he fears a "destroying inflation" in the year ahead.

In an address to the National Association of Food Chains, Johnston also said Congress had relaxed consumer credit controls "at the time when it should have been tightening them up."

The controls were relaxed by the new Defense Production Act which was enacted in July.

The Truman administration has been pressing for changes in the new law, and the Senate banking committee has recommended a modification of one provision, known as the Capehart Amendment.

Sponsored by Sen. Capehart (Rep., Ind.), the provision permits sellers to pass on to consumers virtually all cost increases which occurred between the start of the Korean war and last July 26.

In a formal report Monday to the Senate, Democratic members of the banking committee proposed a new version which would direct that price ceilings allow only for "necessary and unavoidable" cost increases.

A minority report, signed by Republican Senators Capehart (Ind.), Bricker (Ohio), Schoeppel (Kan.) and Dirksen (Ill.), said the amendment "should stand intact, at least in all its principles." They accused the administration of refusing even to try to make it work.

Meanwhile, a Senate banking subcommittee voted to re-establish federal livestock quotas for slaughterers—but with a provision to keep livestock rolling to market.

The full 13-man banking committee will consider the proposal Thursday before submitting it to the Senate.

The controversy over quotas has been raging full-blast ever since Congress, in revising the Defense Production Act, killed the Government's authority to impose quotas on packers in the slaughter of live meat animals.

Brisk Trade Lifts Grains

CHICAGO, Sept. 24—(AP)—A brisk buying movement sent prices rolling higher on the Board of Trade Monday, particularly in corn and soybeans. Oats also had periods of strength.

Light frost over the week end and the prospect of more Monday night, rainy weather for harvesting soybeans and the belief the government will urge producers to withhold corn and soybeans from the market unless satisfactory prices can be obtained spurred the buying.

All deferred contracts of corn and oats set new seasonal highs. There was a good deal of short-covering in corn and soybeans. Wheat was inclined to lag, although the 1952 crop July delivery did relatively well.

Wheat closed ⅜ lower to ⅝ higher, December $2.44¾-$2.44⅝; corn 1⅜ to 2 cents higher, December $1.75½-$1.75⅜; oats ⅜-1⅛ higher, December 86⅛-86; rye (new style) 1¼-1¾ higher, December $1.76¾; soybeans 2½-3¼ higher, November $2.75¼, and lard 35 to 42 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $16.80.

Soybean meal was very strong in line with the advance in feed grains. Prices for immediate delivery cash bean meal remained unchanged at the $74 ceiling. Active futures closed 80 cents to $1.55 a ton higher, November $60.25 bid and $60.50 offered.

Steel Handlers Team Up To Fight Black Market

Steel wholesalers and retailers in Atlanta have joined forces with Federal agencies in striking at black market operations.

As far as can be learned there are no steel gray or black market operatives centered in Atlanta, but syndicates headquartered elsewhere, particularly at St. Louis, Chicago and Miami, are known to be soliciting business here.

Typical of what the legitimate steel industry is doing to wipe out illegitimate trade in steel is the campaign being conducted by Spang-Chalfant, a division of the National Supply Company.

J. D. Childers, Spang-Chalfant's district manager here, said his organization has asked each of its customers to help prevent a gray or black market in steel by:

"1. Directing all tonnage of our product received into the proper channels fairly and equitably and (2) reporting to us promptly any instance of diversion of our product into improper channels so that we may apply immediate corrective measures."

A continued tight supply of steel will prevail in the markets the rest of this year and throughout the first quarter of 1952 and the industry feels that this may encourage black market operations.

In this connection, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson says the Defense Production Administration has told him that steel production will be lower in the beginning of 1952 than in the last quarter of this year.

This tightening of supply already has hit Atlanta one hard blow. The Atlanta Gas Light Company has been unable to secure enough lightweight pipe to fill all of its new customer needs for pipe.

Because of this shortage some Atlanta homes will be denied gas for heating and cooking purposes this winter, unless the Government does something to rectify the situation.

Because of its rate structure the Atlanta Gas Light Company cannot install heavyweight pipe for gas line purposes, although the latter type appears to be in more plentiful supply.

However, the company has announced its intention of following a policy of installing pipe if the customer secures it himself. The heavyweight pipe, of course, costs considerably more than the lightweight pipe normally used for gas purposes. But the customer sometimes finds that the additional cost is offset by the need.

The cost of the lightweight gas pipe to the Atlanta Gas Light Company is around $1.09 per foot.

The cost of the heavier weight is around $1.75 per foot. If the customer is willing to pay this higher price, which is wholly legitimate since the pipe is of heavier weight, and also is able to secure sufficient quantity of the heavier weight pipe to meet his needs, the Atlanta Gas Light Company will install it and also allow him $1.09 credit toward its price.

Industrials Slump 1.34; Rails Strong

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—Some fresh difficulties were encountered Monday in the Stock Market's attempt to remain near the top levels of the year. Although the list showed some firmness in the late trading, the power behind the buying proved limited and insufficient to make much of a dent in the day's losses. The Dow industrial averages revealed a net loss of 1.34 point.

The rails and a few selected coppers managed to run counter to the session's trend with aircrafts and rubbers showing up as the softest spots. Brokers felt no alarm over the new sell-off and pointed to the lightness of business on the decline as a good indication.

Volume on the Stock Exchange contracted to the smallest in three weeks with transfers at only 1,630,000 shares, against 2,180,000 on last Friday. It was the narrowest market since last Wednesday with dealings confined to 1,141 individual stocks. At the close, 565 were lower and 330 higher.

NEW HAVEN STRONG

The day's corporate news budget was meager, with few developments to affect individual movements. New Haven Railroad was strong on the announcement that it had received a $7,225,958 federal tax refund with interest covering the years 1939 through 1947. Attention was focused on the rail issues, for this section often provides a clue to the immediate course of the list. Should the rails hold their present position, brokers feel that the industrials could generate new life.

Initial quotations were at wide variance and activity limited. Republic Pictures started on a 5,000-share transaction and with a price appreciation of ¼ point. The rails were ahead slightly on the opening trades but fractional inroads generally ruled in the steels and motors. After drifting easier, the market firmed up near mid-day under the prodding of the carriers.

The list maintained its better appearance during the early afternoon when the coppers joined the advancing rails. The recovery proved too mild to eliminate or materially reduce the losses sustained in the forenoon, and final prices were irregularly lower.

B. & O. ACTIVE

Baltimore & Ohio, the day's most active stock on 22,200 shares, added ⅜ point at 19⅝ on 21,300 shares. Others in the section with the exception of Canadian Pacific and Illinois Central ended higher by fractions to a point in Atlantic Coast Line, Chicago & Eastern Illinois and Nickel Plate (New York, Chicago & St. Louis).

Fractional declines predominated in the steels as both United States Steel and Bethlehem slipped ⅜ point at 42⅝ and 54⅛, respectively. An exception was Alleghany Ludlum, which rose a point to a new high of 48⅜. Vanadium gave no recognition to the increased dividend and ended unchanged. Long dormant Wayne Pump broke loose for a 1⅝ gain to 18⅜.

Firestone and Goodrich were the weakest of the rubbers with both lowered by more than a point. Chrysler was reduced ⅜ point at 71¾ and General Motors by ⅛ at 51¼. Standard Oil stocks were off fractions, with wider inroads in Atlantic Refining, Deep Rock and Skelly. Case suffered the widest decline among the farm equipments and Douglas in the aircraft manufacturing division. Moore McCormack strengthened by a point on a turnover of 13,300 shares and directors voted a 25 percent stock dividend.

On the curb, Molybdenum subsided further with a 3¼ drop to 61 on 5,700 shares and U. S. Radiator rose 1⅜ to 14¼.

Grady To Bill Patients On Free Treatment List

The board of trustees of the Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority Monday approved appropriation of $4,000 for temporary adoption of a new uniform billing system for Grady Hospital, under which patients eligible for free hospital treatment will receive statements itemizing cost of services received.

Grady Hospital currently bills only patients ineligible for free treatment.

The new system will be "on trial" for a year, board members stipulated. Grady Supt. Frank Wilson said the system would cost $4,000 annually, but would result in simplification of records.

"Free" patients, on release from the hospital, will receive bills stamped "paid" under the new system.

The board Monday approved a 24-year contract between Grady Hospital and Emory University. Under its terms the two will officially continue a "plan of mutual assistance and supplementation."

Members explained the contract, retroactive to Sept. 1 and ending Aug. 31, 1975, is simply a "formalization of a working agreement between Emory and Grady which has been in existence for years."

The contract explains that "it is desirable that a modern school of medicine be co-ordinated with a hospital where treatment, teaching and demonstration can be conducted, and it is also beneficial to a public hospital to permit a recognized medical school to teach and demonstrate there."

Emory University's Board of Trustees will pass on the contract at its October meeting.

The contract sets up an executive committee, headed by Wilson and Dr. Hugh Wood, dean of Emory University's Medical School, to settle all matters of policy. The contract designates Grady Hospital as "teaching hospital." Terms provide that the contract may be voided by either party on one year's notice.

Wilson reported to the board that the new Negro hospital on Grady Hospital grounds may be in operation shortly after the first of the year.

The board accepted resignation of Morgan Blake, well-known Atlanta newspaperman, with regret and appointed a committee headed by John Sibley to "frame an appropriate resolution."

U. S. To Pay Debt To Baltimore For '63 War Work

BALTIMORE, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Federal government finally is going to pay off Baltimore for fortifications it built during the War Between the States.

The fortifications were built in 1863 at the request of the Federal army. General Lee had just invaded Pennsylvania and there was fear he'd come rolling down Maryland to capture Baltimore and Washington.

Baltimore sold $96,152 in bonds to pay for erecting the breastworks. The government paid that back 30 years later. But it didn't repay the interest on the bonds which kept piling up and piling up to $171,034.

Baltimore has been dunning the government with claims in Congress ever since.

Mayor Thomas d'Alesandro announced Monday the comptroller general has approved the claim. Sen. O'Conor (Dem., Md.) will introduce a bill authorizing payment.

S. Cosby Gorley

EATONTON, Sept. 24—S. Cosby Gorley, 74, retired Atlanta druggist, died late Monday at the home of relatives in Eatonton. Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday at the graveside in Pine Grove here. The Rev. W. H. Boring and the Rev. J. D. Gibson will officiate.

Dr. Gorley operated drugstores in Atlanta for 45 years until his retirement eight years ago.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Lewis Jenkins and a brother, George Gorley, both of Eatonton.

Speed Cuts Losses In Forest Fires

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Speed of attack on forest fires saves millions for America, the U. S. Forest Service says. It cites figures for three periods in a rough Rocky Mountain region.

Before 1930, when fire-fighters moved on foot and with horses, losses averaged $40,000,000 a year. In the 1930's, when motor vehicles speeded attack, losses dropped to $3,500,000 a year on the average. When planes and smoke jumpers were introduced the losses were cut to a $350,000-a-year average.

Questions and Answers

Sleeping Partners

If young child sleeps with adult does the adult take the strength of the child? (H. A. G.)

Answer—Neither takes strength from the other, but both derive less benefit from sleep or rest because each disturbs the other more or less.

WE HARD-BOILED DOCTORS

Perhaps you doctors should have a dose of your own medicine . . . I wonder if after a gastric resection you would still say patients have no pain after operation. (F. A. C.)

Answer—On the same principle you may wonder if I now live with my second or third wife. No, I haven't disposed of my first yet. If you can show in print that I ever said patients have no pain after operation I'll send you a complimentary full set of Little Lessons in the Ways of Health for which many gullible customers cheerfully pay $5.

TUMOR

Is fibroid tumor of the uterus dangerous? What causes tumor? (Miss C. H. W.)

Answer—Tumor means swelling. It is not to be confused with cancer. Fibroid tumor of the uterus (womb) often produces no serious trouble. It occurs more commonly in spinsters than in married women who have borne children. If it causes much trouble it may be treated with X-ray or with surgery. Cause is a mystery, at least to me. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on TUMOR.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease or diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed and the request mailed to Dr. Brady, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

"Turnpike" became a U. S. term for toll roads in early days when roads were blocked by a pole studded with pikes until the traveler paid the toll when the pole was turned aside.

Patrice Munsel Visits Berle on WSB-TV at 7

Bill Goodwin's efforts to have his picture taken are neatly foiled by the cast on the afternoon Bill Goodwin Show at 2:30 p. m. on WSB-TV.

On the musical side, Roger Dann sings "Mimi," Eileen Barton offers "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me" and the Joe Bushkin musical group jams on "Ain't She Sweet."

Milton "Mr. Television" Berle will have another array of top talent for the second program of the new season on WSB-TV's Texaco Star Theater at 7 p. m.

Guests will include Met soprano Patrice Munsel, who will sing with the Atlanta Symphony; film star Basil Rathbone, trumpeter Louis Armstrong, vocalist Vaughn Monroe and the dance team of Condos and Brandow.

A sensitive story of a songwriting milkman who feels sure he will become a great power in the music world when he wins a song contest will be dramatized on WSB-TV's Circle Theater at 8:30 p. m. The play, titled "Danny's Tune" stars George Hall and Mary Kay Stearns.

A romantic story of early California, "White Violet," will be dramatized on the Fireside Theater at 8 p. m. on WSB-TV. A young poetess (Eve Miller) attracts the attention of two handsome shipbuilders when she writes about the majestic beauty of forests.

Teddy Hale, dancer; a dramatic segment featuring a scene from the Broadway production "Lace on Her Petticoat," with the original players; Sigmund Rothschild, art collector; and Evalyn Tyner and her piano are featured on the WSB-TV Kate Smith Show at 3 p. m.

On the air Ezra Stone, one of the producer-directors of the WSB-TV All Star Revue (Sat. at 7 p. m.) will be the guests of host Tommy Bartlett on Welcome Travelers at 10 a. m. on WSB-NBC. Stone is best known for his portrayal of Henry Aldrich in the radio Aldrich Family.

For the second time within four months, WSB-NBC's Big Town (10 p. m.) will focus attention on the problem of drug traffic among teen-agers in a special dramatization, "Death on the Downbeat." The hard-hitting story will deal with a narcotics ring operating in a nightclub which offers its young patrons hot jazz and free access to dope.

David Niven stars in "Brief Encounter," by Noel Coward, a realistic story of a man and woman, both happily married, who meet and fall in love against their will during Playhouse on Broadway at 10:30 p. m. on WSB-NBC.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will portray a mountain-climber who finds his recurrent nightmare being fulfilled in real life, in a drama titled "The Cold Brow of Death" on WSB-NBC's Hollywood Theater at 8:30.

Dreaming again and again that he has scaled Mt. Everest with his best friend, then betrayed his friend, Neil Daggett always awakens at the point where he is slipping toward death.

Almost everyone has heard about the "midnight ride of Paul Revere," but few know that the man who galloped into immortal fame that memorable night also won great renown through his other achievements. Cavalcade of America tells the story of this many-sided genius in "Listen My Children" starring Robert Ryan at 8 p. m. on WSB-NBC.

NEWS ABOUT GEORGIA

Constitution State News Service

Farmers from a dozen counties in southeast and southcentral Georgia will attend demonstration meetings on proper naval stores practice Oct. 1-4. Florida and Georgia forestry experts will conduct sessions in Bryan County Oct. 1; Bulloch, Oct. 2; Toombs, Oct. 3 and Telfair, Oct. 4. County agents will arrange the meetings.

Alleges Plot

President H. L. Mitchell of the AFL Farm Labor Union has accused 100 Congressmen of promoting a "scandalous wildcat strike" by signing a statement urging farmers to withhold their 1951 cotton from the market for a higher price. The farm employees' leader termed the move an "unprecedented plot to wreck our national economy in the hour of our greatest effort to combat Communism."

Albany Expansion

Albany's business section has expanded another notch with the purchase of the Rowsey Apartments on the fringe of the business section by Ventulett and Pace, insurance firm, which will convert the property into business and office quarters . . . State winners in the co-operative Future Farmers of America from Georgia and five other Southeastern states will receive expense-free trips to the National Future Farmers Convention in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 8-11, it was announced by Robert N. Hoskins, industrial forester of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co.

Roar Annoys Albany

Roaring Ralph, Albany's problem lion, has a new home in a barn on South Front Street. The animal had to be moved from the city zoo because it was too loud and city officials warned he'll be traded for "some other kind of animal" if he doesn't quiet down.

Murder Trials

A 21-year-old Twiggs County Negro and a 58-year-old Bibb grandmother went on trial in Macon Monday for murder in two sessions of Bibb Superior Court. John Effin Denson was charged with the murder last September of Mrs. R. O. Saunders, Macon housewife. Mrs. Sara Long is charged with the murder of her five-year-old grandson last March 27.

Roy Harris Speaks

Roy Harris, speaking at the opening of the 61st year at the Georgia State College for Women in Milledgeville, Monday strongly supported the vital place in the state's educational system of a college devoted entirely to education of women and expressed gratification at the size of the present enrollment.

Outlining Georgia's chief educational problems, Harris said the Minimum Foundation program is necessarily only the beginning of "true educational progress," since it is adequate for only the current school and college enrollment and would be woefully insufficient for the extra 28,000 who should be in college; the 150,000 absentees from public schools and the 80 percent of children falling out between the first and 10th grades.

BRANCHES IN MANY CITIES OF U. S. AND CANADA
FOUNDED 1904

Business is up in SOUTHERN CITY U.S.A.

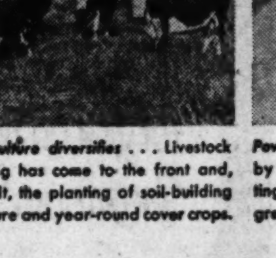
This is Southern City, our way of expressing as one unit the vast Southeast area served by the four associated electric power companies in The Southern Company system.

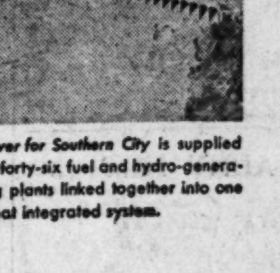
"Southern City," U.S.A., is no ordinary town. Its population of 6,300,000 is comfortably spread over an area of 100,000 square miles—the area served by associated power companies of The Southern Company system.

"Southern City" boasts well over a thousand manufacturing and processing plants, all established in the last decade alone, representing an investment of hundreds of millions of dollars. Yes, business is headed up and the ceiling is unlimited in "Southern City," U.S.A.

Industry likes Southern City's growing markets, wealth of raw materials, mild climate, high caliber of employees, low-cost power, and uncrowded building sites.



Agriculture diversifies . . . Livestock raising has come to the front and, with it, the planting of soil-building pasture and year-round cover crops.



Power for Southern City is supplied by forty-six fuel and hydro-generating plants linked together into one great integrated system.

Over 100,000 stockholders of The Southern Company, located in every state in the Union, are vitally interested in Southern City's progress because it assures a growing demand for electric power—a demand which, by conservative estimate, will be doubled in the next ten years.

The South and The Southern Company are both growing . . . together!

Write the industrial development departments of any of the four operating companies for further information.
